NEW YORK "KNICKERBOCKER" FAMILIES; ORIGIN AND SETTLEMENT

Though Verrezzani in 1524 probably entered the lower bay, Henry Hudson, Captain in the employ of the Dutch East India Company, in September 1609, guided the first ship, the Half Moon, past Manhattan, and up the Hudson River nearly to Albany. The Company began a trading post, called Mannahatta (Manhattan) in 1614; and in 1615 another at Fort Orange (now Albany). In 1624, the Dutch West India Company made a permanent settlement on Manhattan; it sent Peter Minuits as Governor, who arrived in 1625 with a company who settled Breukelen (Brooklyn).

In 1629, the West India Company inaugurated a system of settlement by what are now called manors, somewhat like the plantation system of Virginia, with Wouter Van Twiller as agent, to buy tracts from the natives, and then to grant to the leaders of colonies, who were called patroons, each a manor with 16 miles front on the rivers, and extending back as far as needed. Minuits was recalled in 1633, and led a Swedish colony to Delaware in 1638; Van Twiller governed till 1638, Wm. Kieft from 1638 till 1647, and Peter Stuyvesant from 1647 to 1664, when the Dutch surrendered their claims to the Duke of York.

The Dutch settlements were mostly confined to the Hudson Valley below Troy, and western Long Island, with a few in northeastern New Jersey, for the early immigration was not nearly as large nor as widely distributed as that to Massachusetts, though drawn from the whole south coast of the North Sea. The settlers belonged mostly to the Dutch Reform Church, Presbyterian in organization, but there was a general toleration of religious beliefs.

Gerret Cornellisen Van Duyn (Dine, Dyne, Dien, Tine), from Neukerck, Zeeland, Netherlands, with his brother-in-law, Jacques Corteljou, was originally from Duin or Dun, a hamlet in North Brabant. He was the common ancestor of the Garrisons in America. The regular mode of forming family names in the Low Countries or Netherlands (Holland and Belgium), as in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Iceland was patronymic; that is, the Christian-name of the father was the basis of the last name of the son. However, this mode resulted in many duplicate names, so there grew into use, as a temporary expedient for distinguishing between duplicate names, the affixing of the native place of each; with the preposition of location, usually Van = of; occasionally Te, Ten, Ter = at the.

The Immigration and Passenger lists, which have been published, contain the most substantial information as to the home places of the Dutch immigrants. This is so to some extent, but, on the other hand the name of the Dutch emigrants on these passenger lists do not conform with the names of their families a generation or two later, except in a comparatively few cases. The patronymic for a surname was used in most cases, the actual family name being adopted not earlier, as a rule, than the second or third generation in this country. Then they would usually adopt the name of the original home place or estate of the family, rather than the place in which they lived immediately preceding their departure to America.

Not all of these original settlers who may be considered Dutch were actually Dutch. As we know, many (the Walloons) came from France, having settled temporarily in Holland before they came to America. It is found that a great many of these, who were assumed to be Dutch, actually came from what are now sections of Germany. The latter were principally the independent Duchies or Principalities of Oldenburg, Hanover, Rhine Province, Westphalia and Schleswig-Holstein. All of these were independent governments at the time of the Dutch emigration to America. This does not mean the emigrants from these places were not originally Dutch; as in the 16th Century, many of the Dutch fled to these provinces during the Spanish persecutions. It is also true that in the second half of the 17th Century people from the Palatinate and the Rhine Province fled into the Netherlands to escape the French religious persecutions. Therefore, in many cases, the actual place of residence, at any particular time, could not positively determine the actual nationality of the family.

The derivation of the name Garrison is uncertain, perhaps from the Dutch: Gerritsen, Garretson, or perhaps from the French, as the name is common in the south of France, Garrisson, where the meaning "little oak" is assigned to it. The only known English family of the name considered itself of Dutch origin, and this is true of many American Garrisons. The original description of the Garrison Coat- of-Arms (Shield) is as follows: "D'Or A Une Chene De Sin., Englante D'Arg". When translated the blazon also described the original colours of the Garrison arms as: "Gold; a Green Oak Tree, Silver Acorns."

Gerret Cornellisen Van Duyn is listed on the Passenger lists as making several trips to and from the Netherlands to the New Netherlands (New York) after 1620. He may have been a ship's carpenter for the Dutch East India Company. Dutch Reform Church records have him born in Holland in 1600 and dying in New York in 1699.

William Dominick Garrison of Garrison, New York, born there on September 10, 1838, was the son of John Garrison, born December 20, 1795 in Garrison, New York (died there November 3, 1869. John was the son of Harry Garrison of Garrison, N.Y., born on Staten Island, N.Y. on March 03, 1765 (died at Garrison, N.Y. on August 06, 1845). Harry was the son of Johannes Garrison of Staten Island, N.Y., born there 1720, died there 1813, a farmer who spoke the Dutch language, had three slaves, changed his name from Gerritsen to Garrison. Johannes was the son of Gerrit of Staten Island, N.Y. who was born at Bergen, New Jersey, in 1675 and died at Staten Island in 1765, a blacksmith, had 11 children, of whom seven were married sons. Gerrit Garrison (1675-1765) was the son of Gerrit Gerritsen (se, sze) who was born at Wageningen, Netherlands. He came to America in 1659/1660 at about 25 years of age and was married to Anna Hermansse and had nine sons. He died on Staten Island in 1725.

William Lloyd Garrison (1805 - 1879) was editor of "The Liberator" at Boston, Mass.. He was the son of Abijah Garrison (1773 - d. after 1814), a sea captain from New Brunswick, Canada. Abijah was the son of Joseph Garrison (1734 - 1783) a farmer, and perhaps an Englishman.

THE GARRISON COAT OF ARMS HEREBY ILLUSTRATED IS OFFICIALLY DOCUMENTED IN RIETSTAP ARMORIAL GENERAL. THE ORIGINAL DESCRIPTION OF THE ARMS (SHIELD) IS AS FOLLOWS:

"D'OR A UNE CHENE DE SIN., ENGLANTE D'ARG."

WHEN TRANSLATED THE BLAZON ALSO DESCRIBES THE ORIGINAL COLORS OF THE GARRISON ARMS AS:

"GOLD; A GREEN OAK TREE, SILVER ACRONS."
