Dear Professor,

Thank you for your letter of July 6. I have written to Heffers to inquire whether a second hand copy of your biography of Sir Arthur Eddington might be available.

Amongst of my book I would mention that it is a collection of a few essays and poems, one of the essays treating the theme of science vs. religion and including the bit of correspondence I had with Sir Arthur and with Einstein. It is not on mathematical matters (I am sorry I am not a mathematician), rather some philosophical reflections.

Since you mention that you would like to know of this correspondence, I enclose a copy of same. The essay, including some further remarks, is in Icelandic, and I regret an English translation is not available.

Yours sincerely,

Yngvi Jóhannesson

Dear Allie:

Many, many thanks
for your note and information therein.

I have written Mrs.
Clark and I shall await results. I shall get the fee in before Mar 1st. In the meantime I shall preserve your very kind note. Should anything spectacular

break the Stirling, I shall get in touch
with you.

It was a joy to see
you looking so well
and so "full of beans",
in the whole world,
there's nothing like
you. You are never dull - always vibrant
and a good sense of humour. I love my Granfell Calendars.
Ever so affectionately,
Maudie L.
