Since the first large dial telephone systems in Canada were supplied by AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC over 50 years ago, AE has been a leader in every phase of telephone development. Today, the new Starlite extension phone is an example of the advance design thinking that goes into all new AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC products. Tomorrow, electronic switching equipment and telephones, now being engineered by AE, will be even more versatile. Manufacturing facilities in both Eastern and Western Canada and operations from coast to coast place AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC in the forefront of the Canadian communications industry.
