To: Joseph - David & Janet <dejoseph@videotron.ca>

This is a very sad day - I have just heard that "Uncle Phil" - Phil Orkin passed away today in London at the ripe old age of 96.

Phil was loved by all who knew him and he was well up to the end. This was pretty sudden and unexpected.

Our condolences go out to Martin and Alfie and their families.

We will miss him.

David

Dear Nick,

In response to your e-mail of yesterday, you can pick up as many of my books as you like, at $15.00 each -- provided only that the books go to Aldrich people or to friends of Aldrich.

Please just call (277-0730) before you come to make sure that either my secretary, Mrs. Ann Zuehlke, or I will be here.

Would it be possible for you to meet the fellow in Poland whose letter I sent you yesterday?

Best wishes,
Alfred Bader

Dear Alfred,

On November 1 I am leaving for Poland for two weeks. During that time I shall also fly to Milan to a big trade show (expected 15,000 visitors). Before this trip I would like to buy four copies of your book and take with me as souvenirs for some of my good friends - all of them also good vendors of Aldrich. Please let me know when and where I can pick up these books. Although I spend here 50-60 hours/week, my time schedule is quite flexible.
Best regards,

Dear Alfred and Yoabel,

I received your letter and it is wonderful to see both of you again.

But I am afraid that I am not able to join you to our favorite restaurant, because I have been sick all the time. Medio April I was very lousy, so the first thing they thought about was food poisoning, or so. Finally they made a coloscopic and there was a colitis ulcerosa (Crohn) that was sept. 5th. A few weeks I was all right and then I was very lousy again, and had to go to hospital for more than 2 weeks, in observation. Now I am 2 weeks home, and gaining some strength, but not yet able to do much.

For the rest I was quite all right and everything was caused by the colitis ulcerosa and after all it was very logically that it started summer '99 when I was not feeling ~~so~~ very fit. Sorry for the long story.

As for the sale, probably I am not going to the openings, as Nico has probably no time, besides I am not very interested as I am (not buying). I want to go to the sale of Sathy's (curiosities) but Dennis must bring me, which he does not really like, I have cost him and his wife lots of time. I am afraid I am exhausted after the sale and the next morning I have to be at g'l' church in the hospital for control. That are all the reasons why I doubt.

to join our traditional supper.

I hope you both are well and that you receive this letter in time. I also hope this hand writing is not too difficult, it is because I think type writing is more

Well! we see each other at least at Sohey's on the 4th.

Dear Dr. Bader,

It was embarrassing to receive your letter dated May 19th, pointing out gross inaccuracies in the obituary of Professor Ze'ev Lev in the JCT Perspective.

The task of writing the obituary was entrusted to a free-lancer who knew Prof. Lev quite well, and we had no way of knowing that this person used an "imaginative" approach which departed at several junctures from the facts.

We will publish a correction in an appropriate publication and have taken note of the amendments for the future.

Thank you for pointing out the mistakes in the obituary.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Joseph S. Bodenheimer

Dear Dr. Bader:

Thank you so very much for addressing our community. Your talk on the Bible and Dutch art was well received by all in attendance. Your ability to integrate your knowledge of history, the Bible, and art truly shone through as you analyzed each painting. Your insights enlightened those who had little background of the subject and others who were more knowledgeable. In addition to your obvious knowledge of the subject matter, your "Yiddishe Tam" was very appreciated by the audience members.

Again, we appreciate your visit to our community. We wish you much luck in your future endeavors. Please extend our very best regards to Mrs. Bader.

Dear Willie:

Thank you for your good wishes.

I am reciprocating so late because you sent your card to Aldrich, which expelled me some years ago.

You might like to read about this in my autobiography. I don't know whether any bookseller in Jerusalem sells it, but Marvin Klitsner and Kurt Rothschild have copies. Of course, the book also refers to you, and even has a picture of you. I enclose copies of the relevant pages.

Of course, I am not surprised that you write that you are working as hard as ever. I would expect no less from you and working six days is one of the Ten Commandments.

Best wishes, as always,

Thank you so much for your letter, the looming details, and that beautiful scarf.

I very much hope that you will see me wear it at the reunion in October.

Fond regards to you and Helen.

To: Alfie Bader, Bob Bannard, Don Craig, Bill Davis, Stu Fenton, George Hale, Jack Harvey, Doug Van Patter, Hugh Wilson

The enclosed plaid scarf is a variant of the distinctive tartan that Queen's had designed a few years ago. Although the new tartan has a lot of commendable characteristics, I thought that it was a bit on the dull side! I asked my wife, Helen, who is an experienced hobby weaver if she could give the tartan a little "pizazz" by substituting a bright "Science" yellow for its very muddy yellow. She managed to find a very good yellow (and reasonable matches for the other colors) and went ahead and wove enough fabric to make ten scarves. In so doing, she exhausted her supply of yarn and never intends to weave any more tartan like this; accordingly, you have something unique! I imagine that Queen's would not be particularly happy with this "Science" variant, but what the heck!

I decided to share the scarves with my physics colleagues (at least, those who have been reasonably faithful reunion attendees), with Bob Bannard and George Hale who have done so much to make the reunions happen, with Alfie Bader who has been so generous in his gifts to Queen's and with Stu Fenton whose friendship I have especially enjoyed during recent years.

In case you are interested in the "heritage" of your scarf, here is a bit of background:

Helen started weaving at about the time our second daughter left for college and has been at it ever since. Her specialty has been the reproduction of early American and Canadian bed coverings, of which she has filled our house, those of our daughters and has given coverlets to several museums, including Sturbridge Village. Her crowning achievement was the weaving of a coverlet for the Lincoln Bed in the White House. She has conducted workshops from coast to coast and has summarized her know-how in a book: "Weaving a Traditional Coverlet".

When Helen started to have trouble with her knees in the mid-'70's, I began to think of ways of reducing treading forces on her joints. I eventually came up with a design for a computer/loom interface that I implemented in my hobby shop; she has been using it joyfully ever since. Your scarf was woven with the interface, so there is also a little of me in the project! The nerds among you might be interested enough in construction details to glance at the enclosed reprint.

Helen and I are looking forward to seeing you at the reunion next fall. In the meantime, keep healthy!

Sincerely,

P.S. If you are on Internet or any of the other E-mail services, I'd like to hear from you once in a while. My address is: jarvisgord@aol.com

Dear Dr. Jindra:

Thank you so much for your letter of April 15th, which was forwarded to me from Sigma-Aldrich in St. Louis.

In a way I am surprised that Sigma-Aldrich forwarded the letter, because I was dismissed from the company under the odd circumstances explained in the enclosed.

We visit New York very seldom, and we will probably not be there until the old master sales in January. On the other hand, if you ever come to the middle west, please visit us.

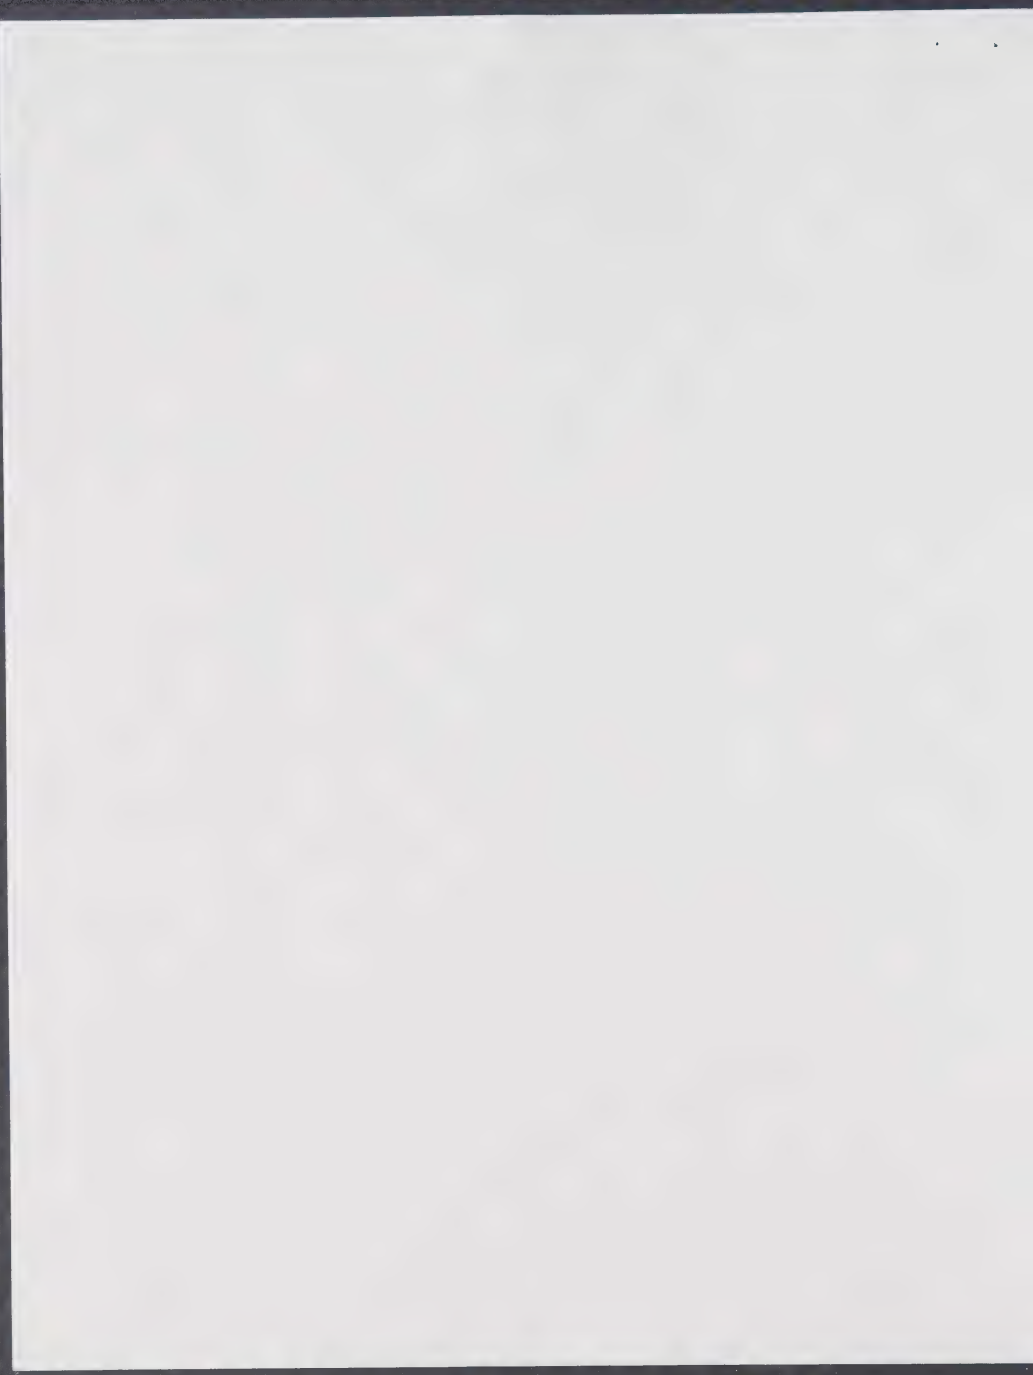

Next month we look forward to being in Prague, doing the best we can to help Czech chemists and art historians.

Best wishes.

I am sure that the Highsmith Press would do a good job publishing the book, but the key is in distribution, and I very much hope to find an internationally known publisher who could promote my autobiography.

I do hope that you will be able to visit my gallery at your convenience.

I told you the evening that I met you as guests of Al and Jennifer Runquist that I would get you the name of a publisher in Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin that presently publishes an artist's writings, the artist being Francisco Mora.

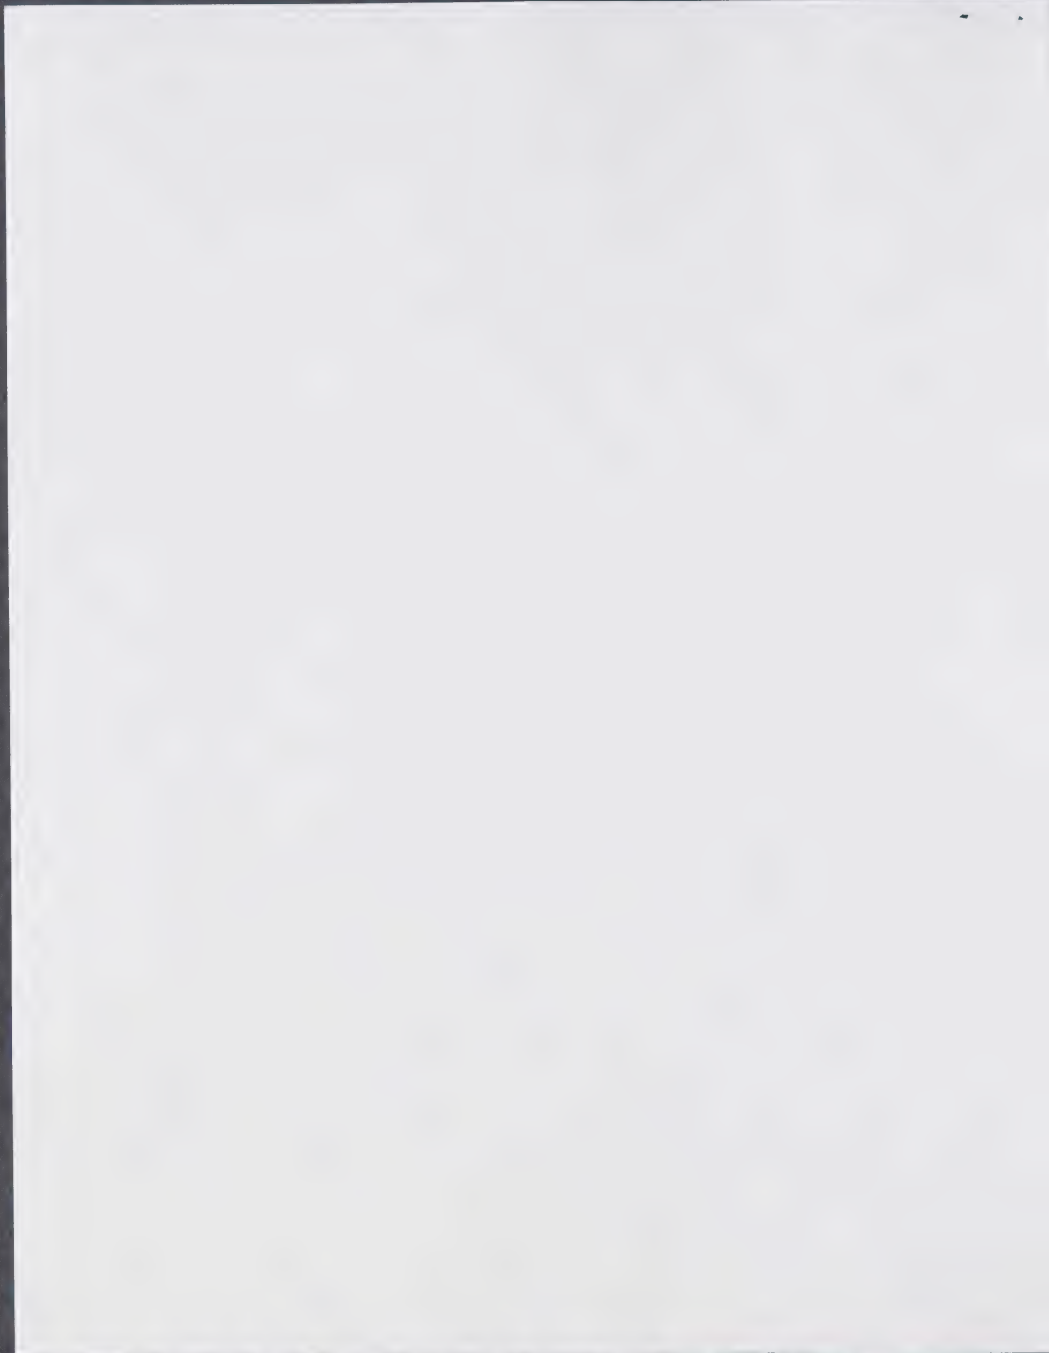

Mr. Mora is a very close friend of ours, and has presently written, illustrated and published four children's books with this publisher. Feel free to use either my name or Mr. Mora's name when you contact the publisher. The publishing operation is called Highsmith Press and, as stated above, it is in Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin, and the gentleman who works with Mr. Mora on the publication of his books is a Mr. Donald Sager. Highsmith Press has been noted primarily over the years for its educational publications. Feel free to contact Mr. Sager at your convenience.

Dear Alfred and Isabel,

As in earlier years, Magda gives you a good review of our activities during the year. I add my greetings and best wishes for the coming year of the boar.

In 1994 we have had some ups and downs healthwise but we have settled down, albeit at a somewhat slower pace than heretofore. The work at the lab. with John Bertie has gone well, leading to the completion of the IUPAC infrared intensity calibration project as a IUPAC monograph and several publications, all currently in press.

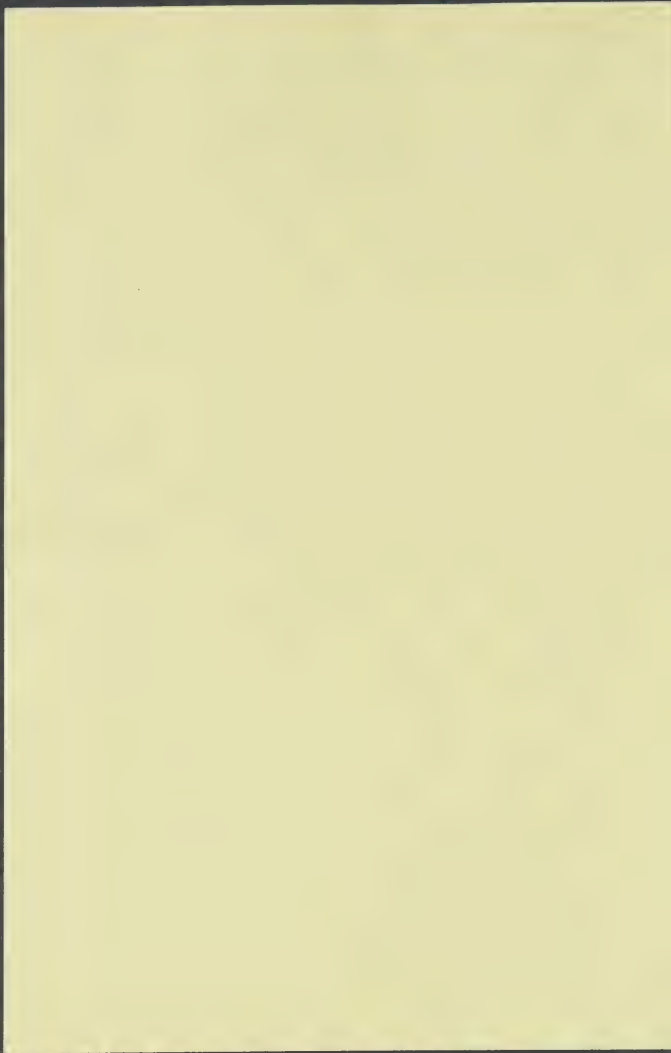

Familywise the major change has been the graduation of Samara from high school and her project to spend a year in Paris before coming back to start undergraduate studies at the University of Alberta.

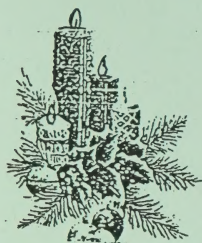

We will be thinking of you all over the Christmas and New Year holidays and will enjoy receiving the greetings cards and letter from our many friends.

With best wishes

SEASON'S GREETINGS...

FROM NORMAN AND MAGDA JONES

CHRISTMAS 1994.

Dear Alfred and Isabel,

With reports of snowfall in the Rockies and other parts of Alberta, we realize that winter is upon us... our thoughts turn to the approaching Holidays. We are much looking forward to receiving news from our many friends far and wide and in turn we are sending our GREETINGS AND BEST WISHES together with a brief resume of our activities during 1944.

The year of 1994 did not start very auspiciously for us, as just around Christmas Norman developed chest pains, which lead to hospitalization and angloplasty... after that Norman made a successful recovery. During the stressful time we received wonderful support from David and Chris and from our Edmonton friends. Now we have worked out a pleasant, although somewhat slower routine. Norman is keeping up his work at the University, and at home too. He has up-dated his home computer to be fully compatible with the set-up at John Bertie's Labs. Two graduate students from the group have received their Ph.D. degrees and the other two are getting close to that stage too. The definitive Report to IUPAC in infrared intensity standards is being published by Blackwell Scientific of Oxford.

As always, we much enjoyed welcoming many visiting friends in Edmonton during the year. Kem and Donna drove out with their motorhome(RV) in May and we had ten lovely days with them. Later they explored the Canadian Rockies before driving back to Toronto. May and June brought many activities in connection with the high-school graduation of Samara(David-Chris's older child), and we were happy to participate as proud grandparents. During the summer Samara was a recipient of a special scholarship for a 6 weeks French immersion course which was held at a college located in the foothills of the Rockies. She is following this up with a year of study in Paris. We all miss her, but this is a valuable experience for her. Eric (17) is continuing his highschool education with success.

August was a specially busy and very enjoyable month, as both Suzanne(my sister) and Trudi(our great friend from Ottawa) came to Edmonton to participate with us in the fun during the famous Fringe Theatre Festival.

October found Norman and I in Ottawa. We were attending the 5th Canadian Flow Cytometry Consensus Meeting, where, as last year, Norman presented the "Creech, Jones & Coons Award" for the best scientific poster. The conference is held annually by Health and Welfare Canada to bring together people working on research relevant to the AIDS/HIV virus. It was a very stimulating and successful meeting.

Our view of Edmonton

While in Ottawa we much enjoyed Trudi's warm hospitality and made the most of the opportunity to see as many of our friends as possible. By some fortunate timing we even overlapped with Camille Sandorfy, as he returned to Montreal from Paris, where he usually spends half of the year. A quick day-trip to Montreal from Ottawa is becoming an annual affair. - On our way back we had a few very pleasant days with Kem and Donna in Toronto, then came a lovely visit with Susi Lanyi in Oberlin, Ohio before we finally reached Edmonton. All in all, we had a wonderful time.....

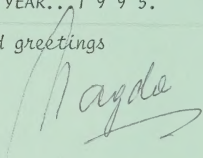

We are happily settled in Edmonton, both Norman and I much enjoy the many stimulating and interesting activities that life around the University of Alberta offers. During the spring term we again audited a course at the East Asian Studies Department, this time broadening our knowledge of the modern Japanese writers. We intend to take a similar course next January. - Edmonton offers many good theatrical productions and a very good opera season too. During the spring and summer some occasional week-ends in the Canadian Rockies are always a delight.

We were very pleased to receive various messages and greetings from you from the CIC Annual Conference at Winnipeg.... Also delighted to learn, that you will be lecturing at the University of Alberta April 10 and 11th, 1995... We are much looking forward to WELCOME you here..

WE ARE SENDING OUR VERY BEST WISHES FOR A HAPPY HOLIDAY SEASON

AND A HAPPY, HEALTHY, FRUITFUL AND SATISFYING NEW YEAR... 1 9 9 5.

Dear Alfred and Isabel,

As I start the annual Christmas Epistle I reflect on the events of the year, which have brought us many changes!

Shortly before Christmas 2000 our dear Norman succumbed to an elusive blood infection. He was hospitalized with intensive treatment with antibiotics. Fortunately he had no pain, but became extremely weak and his only desire was to sleep... He passed away in his sleep peacefully on February 17th, 2001...

A difficult period of re-adjustment followed... After our 61½ years of most happy and fulfilling life together, I felt, I must not complain... The loving attention and care I received from our close family and so many friends from far and wide, has given me great support.

Our sons; David and Kem arranged a most fitting "Celebration of Life" ceremony for Norman for March 17th, just in time for Norman's 88th birthday. There were great many wonderful supporting letters from friends and colleagues. All greatly appreciated...

Before Norman's illness we have made plans to move into a senior establishment, where we set up a very nice 2 bedroom self-contained apartment, keeping our nearby condo at "Claridge House" for our library, office, etc. - I am now comfortably settled at "Garneau United Place", where I have full independence, pleasant social environment and can call on help, if needed. - I spend considerable time at "Claridge House" where with David's help we are working on sorting Norman's scientific and personal papers which will be sent for permanent storage to the National Archives in Ottawa.

Early in June 2001 I made a very pleasant trip visiting dear friends in Winnipeg, continuing on to Ottawa to see as many of our friends as it was possible in a week. It had a rejuvenating effect and was much enjoyed!!

During the year I was happy to welcome a number of friends, starting with those who came to attend the "Celebration of Life" service for Norman. Soon after that came a visit from Christopher Haire (our nephew) from London, whom we have not seen for many years. - "Garneau United Place" has some guest suites, which come in very handy and I do hope that many of our friends will plan to make a stop-over in Edmonton during the coming year. All most WELCOME !!!

Drastic changes have occurred following the September 11th terrorist attacks on New York and Washington, causing uncertainties of travel and a general bewilderment... Unfortunately the general economic outlook is not as bright as it was a year ago...

Turning to happier topics: I am glad to report that the Jones Clan is doing well. Our most travelled member: Samara has completed her Master's degree at the University of Louvain, Belgium and now has started on a job in Brussels with an international agency that co-ordinates welfare work in Europe. We expect Samara home for the Christmas holidays. Eric has received his diploma in Mechanical Engineering and is job hunting at present. - Katrina (from Toronto) has started her general science course at the University of Alberta and is doing very well. - Kem has made several visits to Edmonton during the year. Kem and his wife Donna are planning to spend some months camping with their motorhome in South Texas, escaping the Toronto winter. - David is much enjoying his involvement running the Map department at the Science Library, Univ. of Alberta. Chris is slowly overcoming previous health problems.

I do hope the year is passing pleasantly for you, as you are following your many interesting and stimulating activities and many happy get-togethers with your family and friends.

I WANT TO WISH YOU BOTH A MOST ENJOYABLE

HOLIDAY SEASON

AND

A HAPPY, HEALTHY, STIMULATING AND SATISFYING

NEW YEAR ... 2002!!!

with warm regards,

Magda
