Dear Drs. Bader,

Please allow me to introduce myself and convey my most sincere greetings to the both of you. I have the pleasure of serving as Judith Brown's successor in the role of Associate Vice-Principal, Alumni Relations and Annual Giving and learning about and serving your alma mater. I know that I have big shoes to fill in this role as Judith's contributions to Queen's and its alumni are evident in everything I see in our programs and activities.

I am a second generation Canadian, my parents immigrated to Canada from East Africa in 1972 and in doing so they imparted the deep understanding of how transformative and enriching a university education can be. I have worked at five other post-secondary schools including the University of Guelph, Ryerson University, Western University, the University of Toronto and the University of Pennsylvania. I feel very privileged to now serve your alma mater.

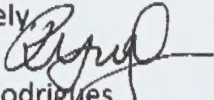

As I near the end of my fifth month at Queen's, I am struck by how deep and rich the legacy of alumni engagement and commitment is here. I am only just starting to grasp all that you have done to support Queen's, and higher education in general, and I look forward to learning even more. I have had the pleasure of meeting with Hugh Horton, the new Vice-Provost and Executive Director of the Bader International Study Centre and we are currently working diligently to develop a strong and vibrant alumni network for the Castle, and working with our fundraising colleagues to enrich the facility and its programs. I look forward to visiting the Castle in the near future and experiencing for myself the wonderfully unique environment it offers those lucky students and faculty members. I visit the Agnes Etherington Art Gallery often and marvel at the works that you have given – thank you, they are outstanding. I have already experienced a concert and art exhibition at The Isabel this fall, it truly is a great gift for Queen's and Kingston.

Judith Brown has kindly provided me with a copy of your books, which I look forward to reading.

I extend my best wishes to you both and am happy to be of service if I can ever help.

Sincerely,

Ryan Rodrigues

Dear Isabel,

I am faxing you the latest version of the schedule for your visit. Last evening, I emailed it to you, Daniel, Marg, Heather, Poppy, Maria Vento, Wayne, Sue, Grant, Kim, and Clifford. I have also emailed a personal version for Yechiel.

If you'd like to discuss any part of the visit, I'm happy to talk any time before 11 am (your time) – after that, I'm available again tonight. This aft I'm out of the office.

With thanks and looking forward to tomorrow!

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Bader,

We want to take this opportunity as 2 moms of young woolen students to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for your generous gift of the National Violin Competition.
We have taken our children out of school so they can take in the entire competition. They are already very excited and inspired.
Our children would like to invite you to their 15th anniversary of their little violin school, Canto Aoyu.
It has such talented & dedicated teachers. And our students graduate & go on to university music performance programs.

Thank you so much to bring this opportunity to little Kingston violinists
If you can attend please

Dear Alfred and Isabel,

I very much look forward to seeing you next Thursday ~ Isabel, I have included my flights for your information. Margaret has sent me a very helpful email with all the details about the shuttle; I'm so pleased to learn about that service!

Also included is an article in Queen's Gazette newspaper, covering some wonderful news that happened yesterday: the parents of a Queen's drama student gifted $5 million to the university's School of Drama and Music. There was a celebratory concert at the Isabel last night, launched with Some Enchanted Evening -- John Burge's score. A full house!

See you next week,

Judith

Queen's takes centre stage

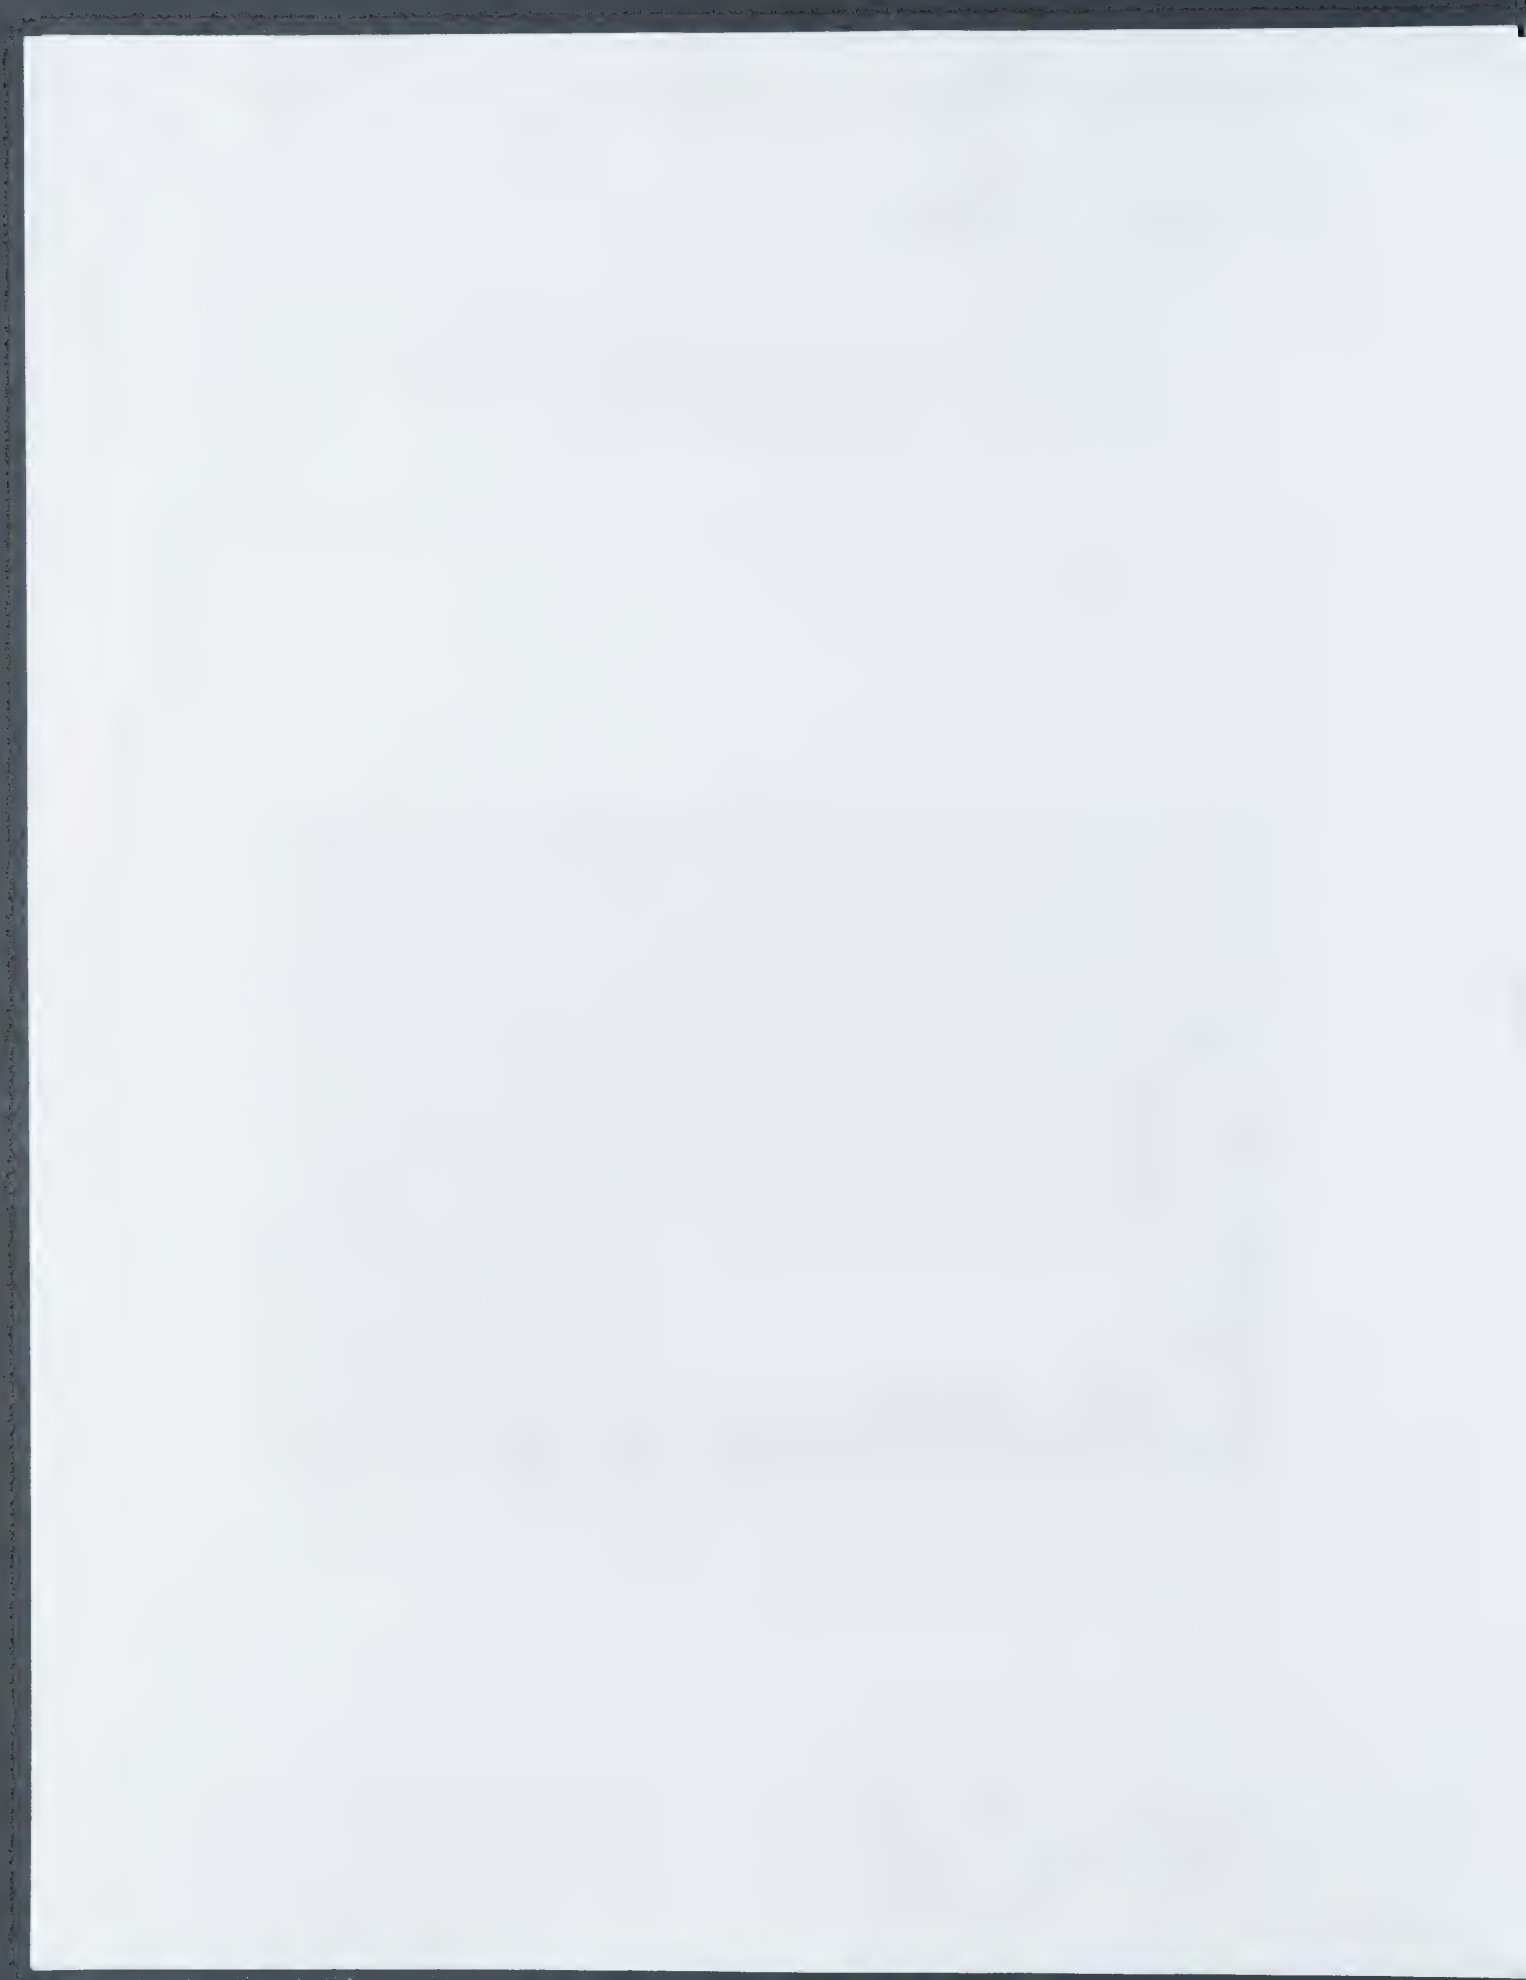

Thursday April 7, 2016

Queen's University announces naming of the Dan School of Drama and Music.

Queen's University announced the naming of the Dan School of Drama and Music, in honour of Aubrey and Marla Dan and their donation of $5 million to the school Thursday.

"Queen's is delighted to receive this remarkable gift from such a distinguished supporter of the performing arts in Canada," says Daniel Woolf, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Queen's University. "On behalf of Queen's, I would like to express our deepest gratitude to Aubrey and Marla Dan for their vision and generosity. This gift will help accelerate the momentum within the school and strengthen Queen's position as a leading university for study in the performing arts."

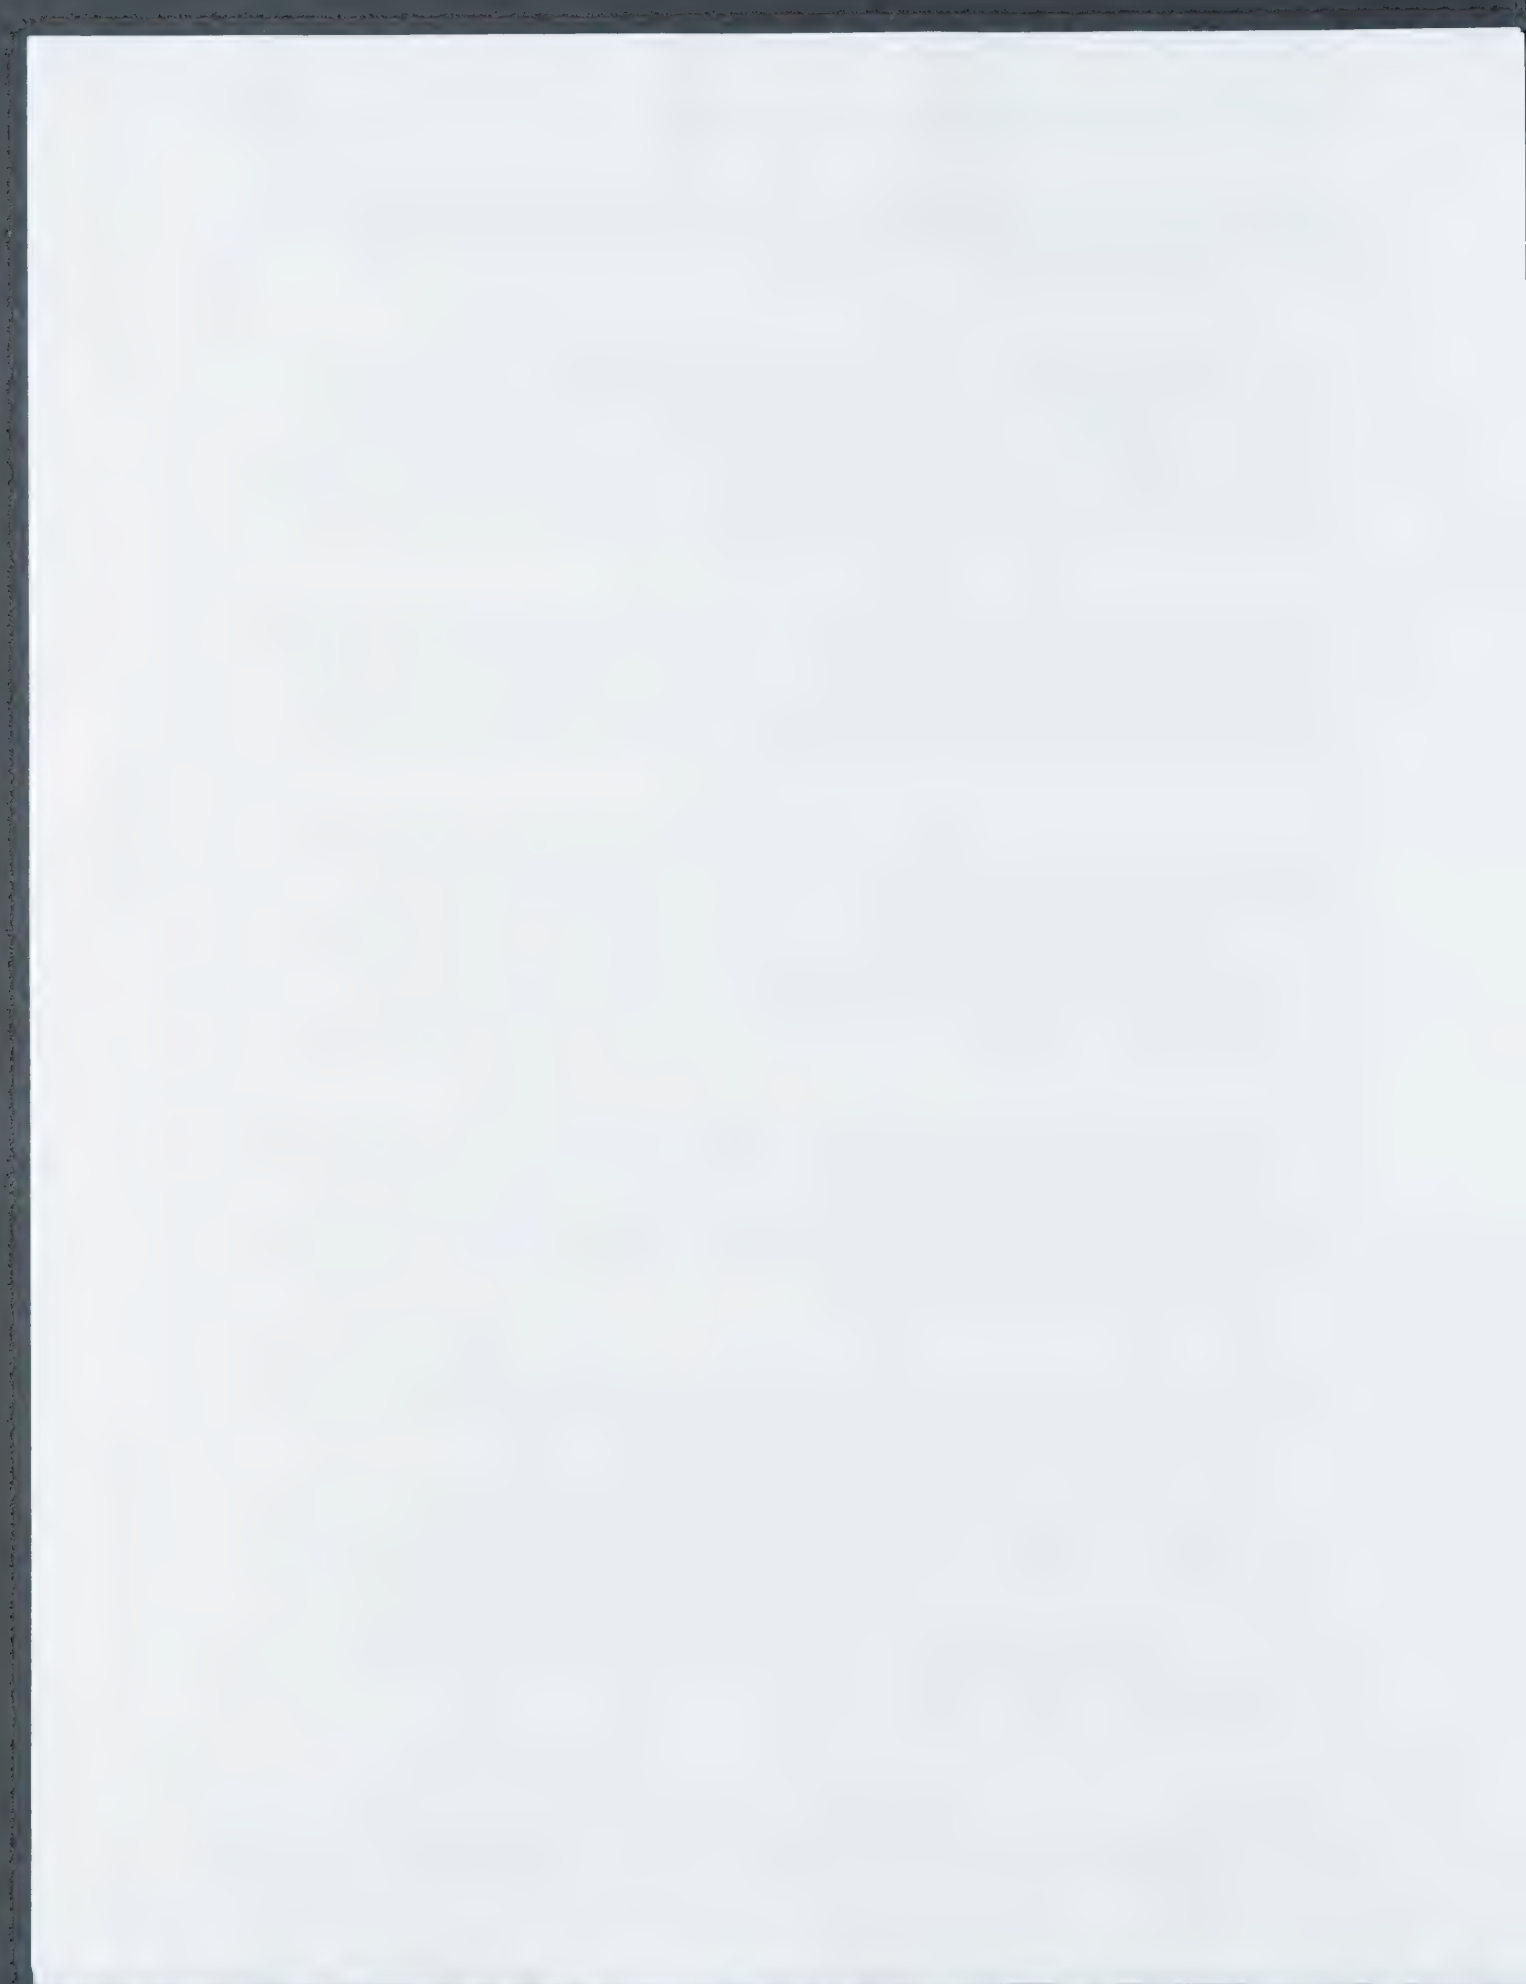

The donation will be endowed to allow investments in visiting professional instructors, scholarships and research. It also builds on the momentum within the Dan School of Drama and Music, following the opening of the Isabel Bader Centre for the Performing Arts and the ongoing development of exciting new programs since the merger of the Department of Drama and School of Music last year.

The benefactors, Marla and Aubrey Dan, are Queen's parents whose daughter is a graduate of the drama program. Mr. Dan is a highly-accomplished Canadian businessman and philanthropist, with a passion for the performing arts. He is also the founder of Dancap Productions Inc., a Tony Award-winning commercial theatre company with international and Broadway production and investment credits, including Jersey Boys, The Drowsy Chaperone, West Side Story and A Streetcar Named Desire.

"As the father of a Queen's Drama graduate, I saw first-hand the value of the education my daughter received at Queen's," says Mr. Dan. "More importantly, I saw that there's tremendous potential in the School of Drama and Music. It is my hope that this donation will allow the school to reach new levels and become the pre-eminent school for performance arts education in Canada."

In celebration of the naming, a special concert was held at the Isabel Bader Centre for the Performing Arts. Distinguished Queen's Drama and Music alumni took the stage to perform works from South Pacific, Smash, and The Drowsy Chaperone.

"Our plan is to create the pre-eminent School of Drama and Music in Canada and one of the leading such schools in the world," says Craig Walker, Head of the Dan School of Drama and Music. "Moreover, we hope to lay down new paths for scholarship in the field of music theatre. This generous donation by the Dan family will help enrich the learning and research environments for students in drama and music at Queen's and help our students reach new heights."

Dear Isabel,

It was nice to talk earlier today.

Here is another option for a visit from Provost Bacon – he is in Toronto on Tuesday May 30, and could come to Milwaukee on Wednesday May 31st.

Once you've had time to consider, thank you for letting me know your thinking.

Sincerely,

Judith

Subject: Van Dijck arrangements

Dear Daniel,

I hope that this message finds you well.

Arrangements for the Van Dijck painting move forward. The crate has been located, and the gentleman who has packed works for your father in the past is willing to prepare the crate for shipment. He will charge $600 for his services and has proposed April 10 as the day to pack.

Our Collections Manager has procured two quotes for shipment of the painting: $4,400 with Pacart and $6,500 with Armstrong. Both are highly reputable companies that we use frequently. Pick-up of the crate can be scheduled for April 11 or 12.

If you approve of these costs, I will have the crating and pick-up scheduled with Isabel.

Unless you think otherwise, I will send the deed of gift to Ann next week. She can then have your father sign it immediately following the Acquisitions Committee Meeting on April 7, and we will have it in hand when the painting crosses the border.

Dear Isabel,

It is my understand that David Moynihan will be in touch with you about scheduling the crating of the painting. He has proposed April 10. Does that work with your schedule? I hope that it will not be too disruptive for you and Alfred.

As I indicated to Daniel, I will send the deed of gift papers to Ann for Alfred to sign. I will email them when I return to the Agnes on Thursday.

I am away at a conference, but I will look for any messages from you. I hope you are doing well!

All my best,
Jacquelyn

Dear Alfred,

Julie and I were saddened to learn of Rosetta Elkin's passing, and we extend our sincere condolences to you, Isabel and your family.

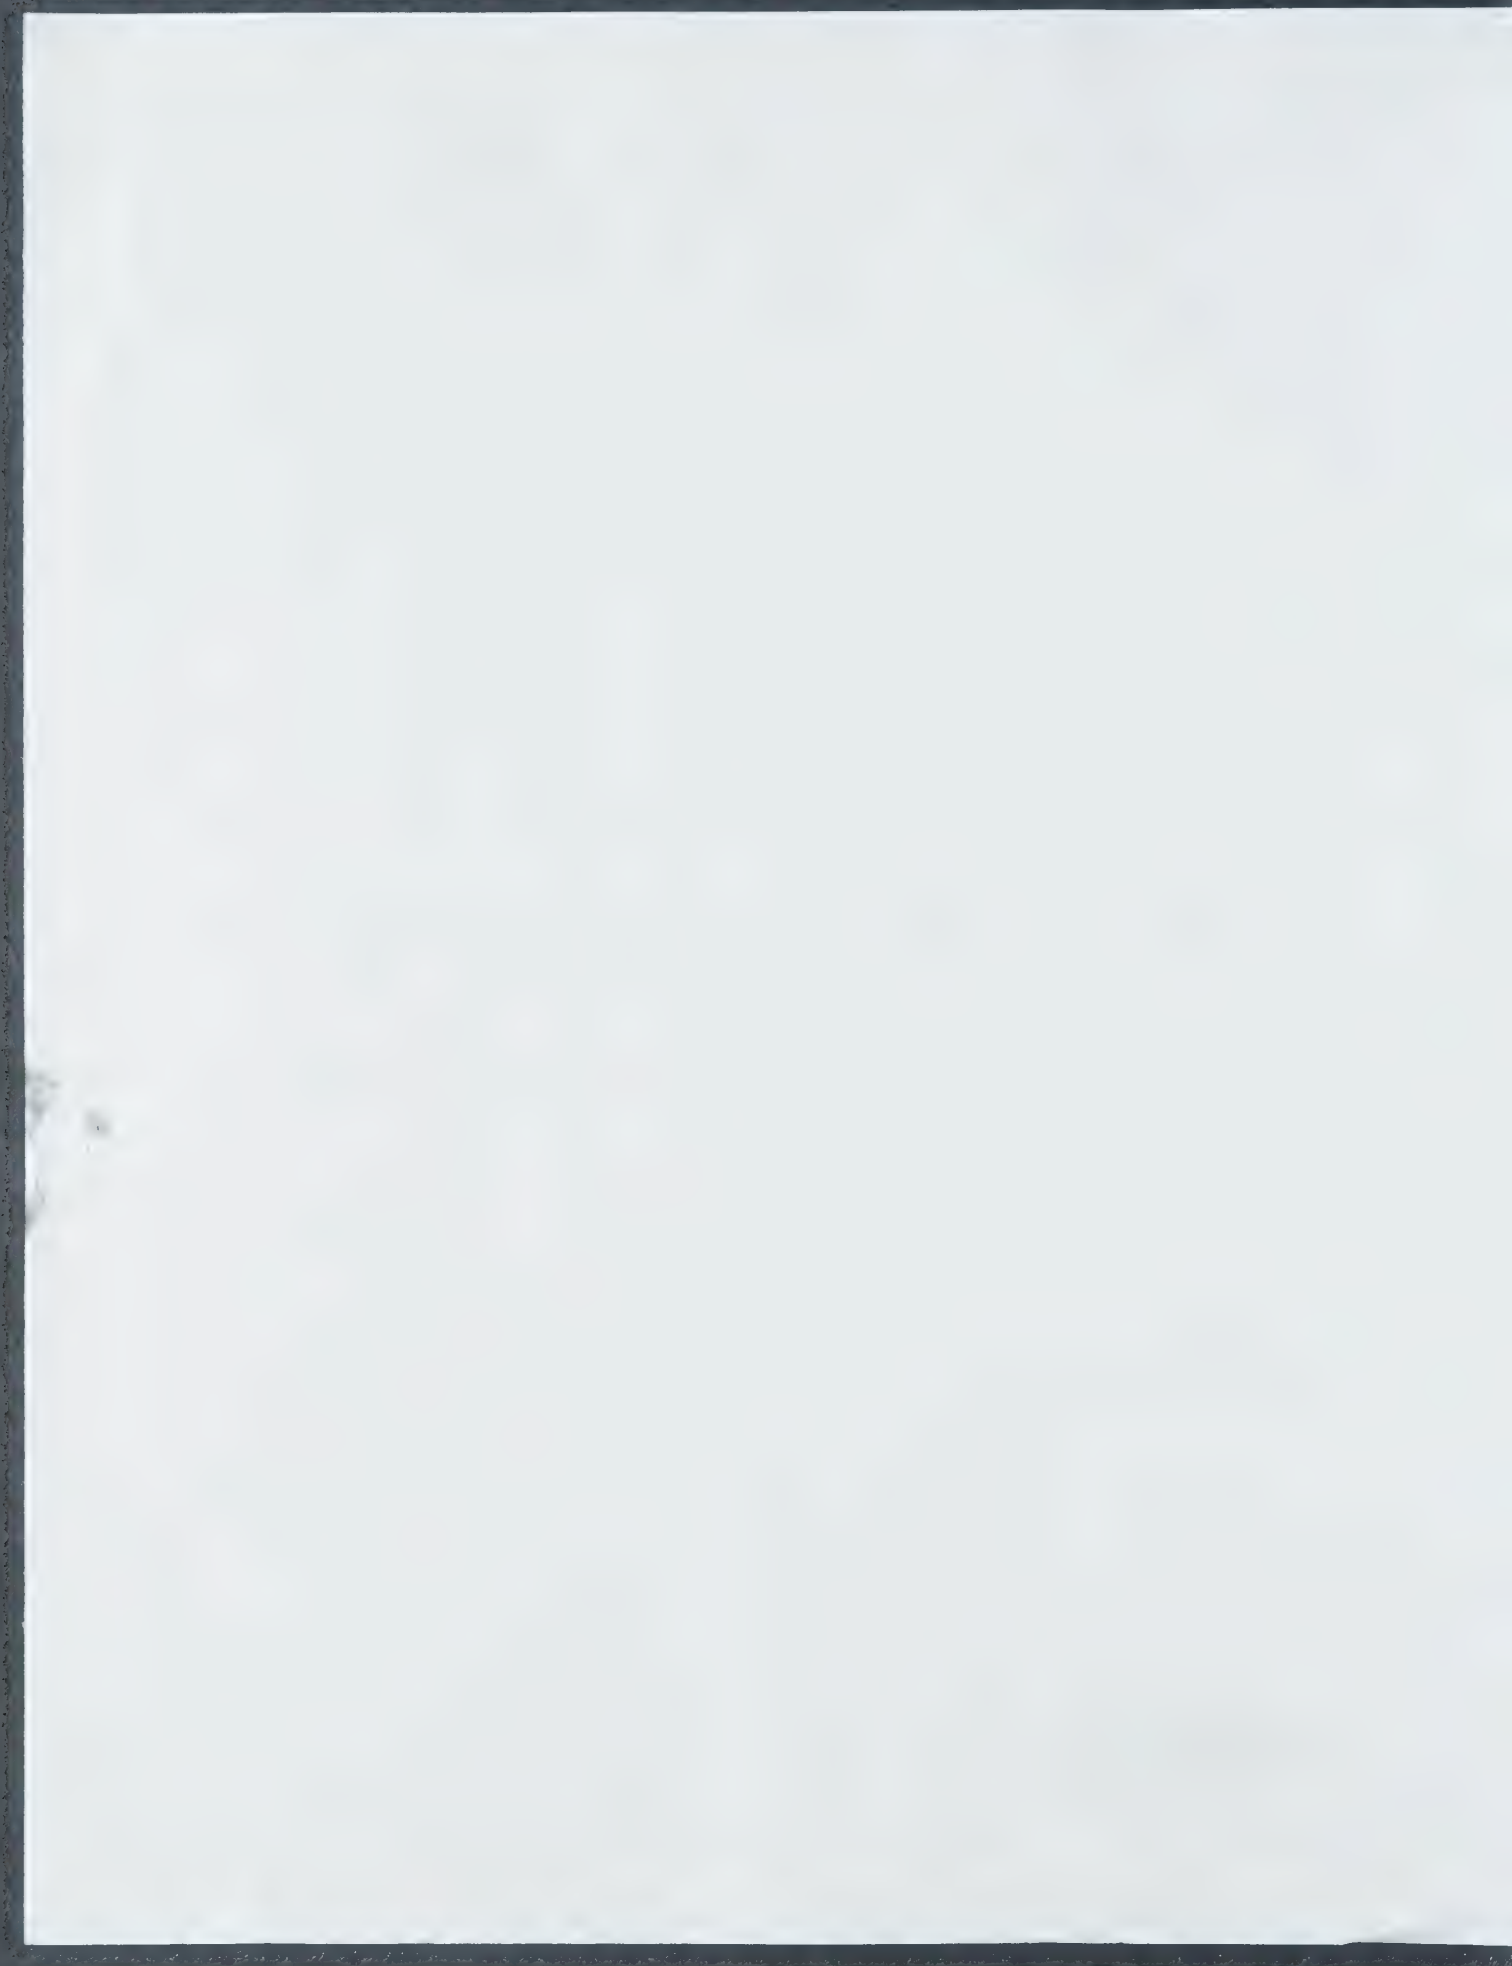

As you know better than anyone, Rosetta was far more to her alma mater than an accomplished graduate. Her loyalty to her alma mater, and the profound insight that prompted her to encourage you to apply to Queen's, altered not only your life but also the course of this great university.

Please know that your Queen's family is at your side, as we reflect together on Rosetta's lasting legacy to her family, her community, and to our Queen's community.

Sincerely,

Dear Alfred,

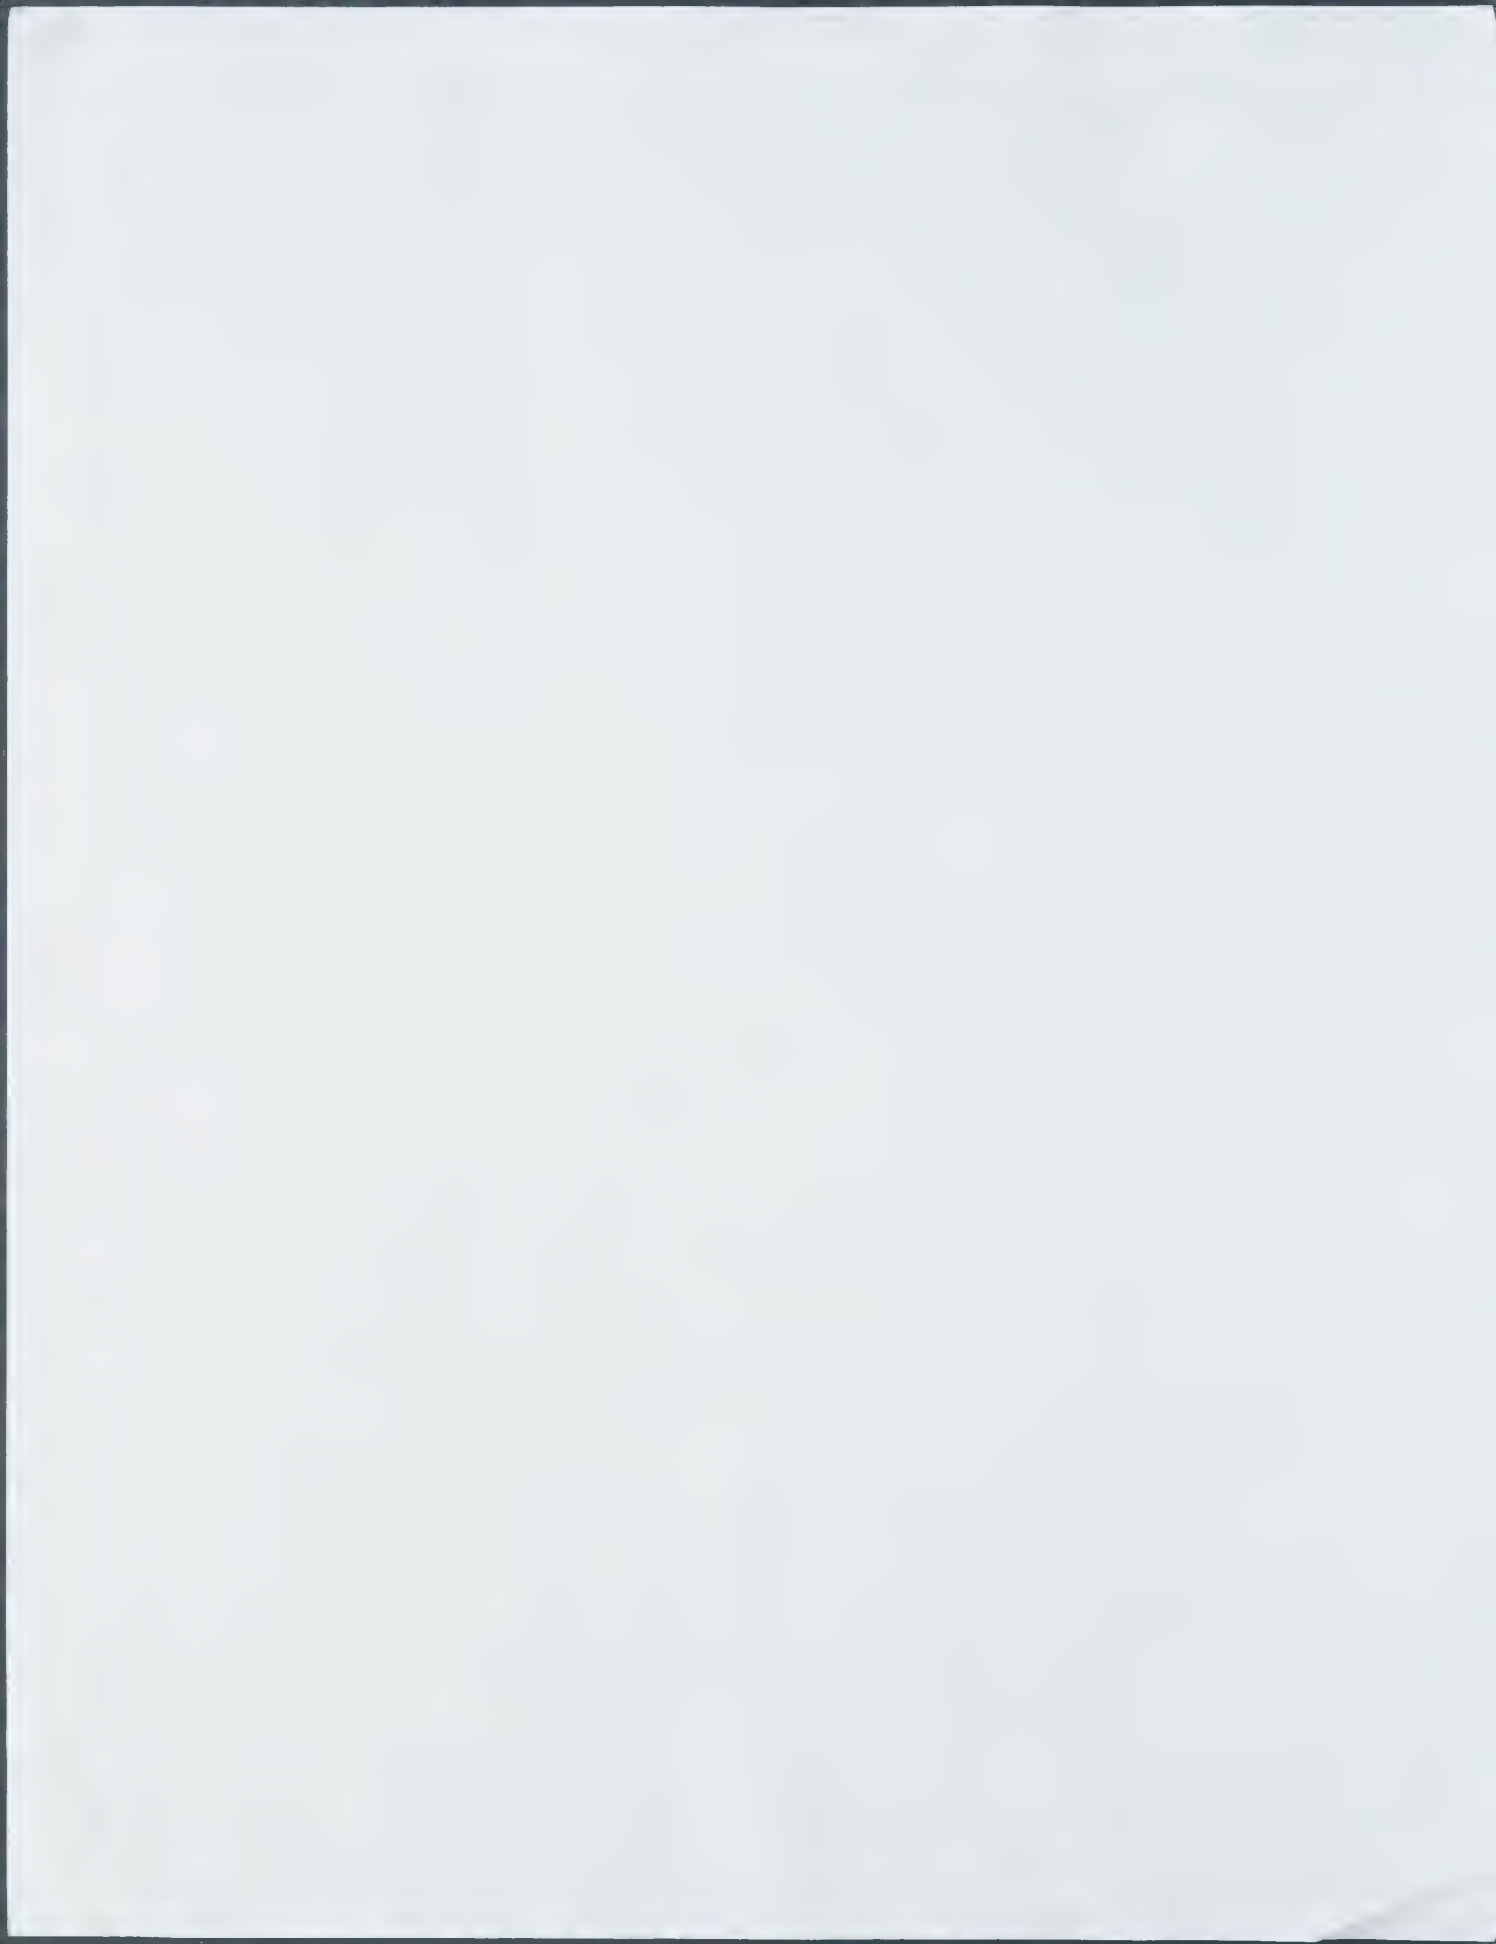

Such a beautiful day here on campus for your birthday!

I have some new information since our visit. You mentioned that you were interested in coming to campus to see the Rembrandt exhibit, and also a football game.

It turns out that there is a home football game the weekend of October 22. That weekend, there is also a concert at the Isabel.

The following weekend, October 29, there is no football game, but there is a violin concert with Pinchas Zukerman.

Jan Allen and Jacquelyn de Coutre are available either weekend to take you through the exhibit at the Art Centre.

I know that it is too early to know for certain your plans, but perhaps you and Isabel could see whether either of these weekends might fit with your schedule, and also Daniel's and others who would accompany you. I could book accommodation and make some preliminary plans. We could cancel these if we needed.

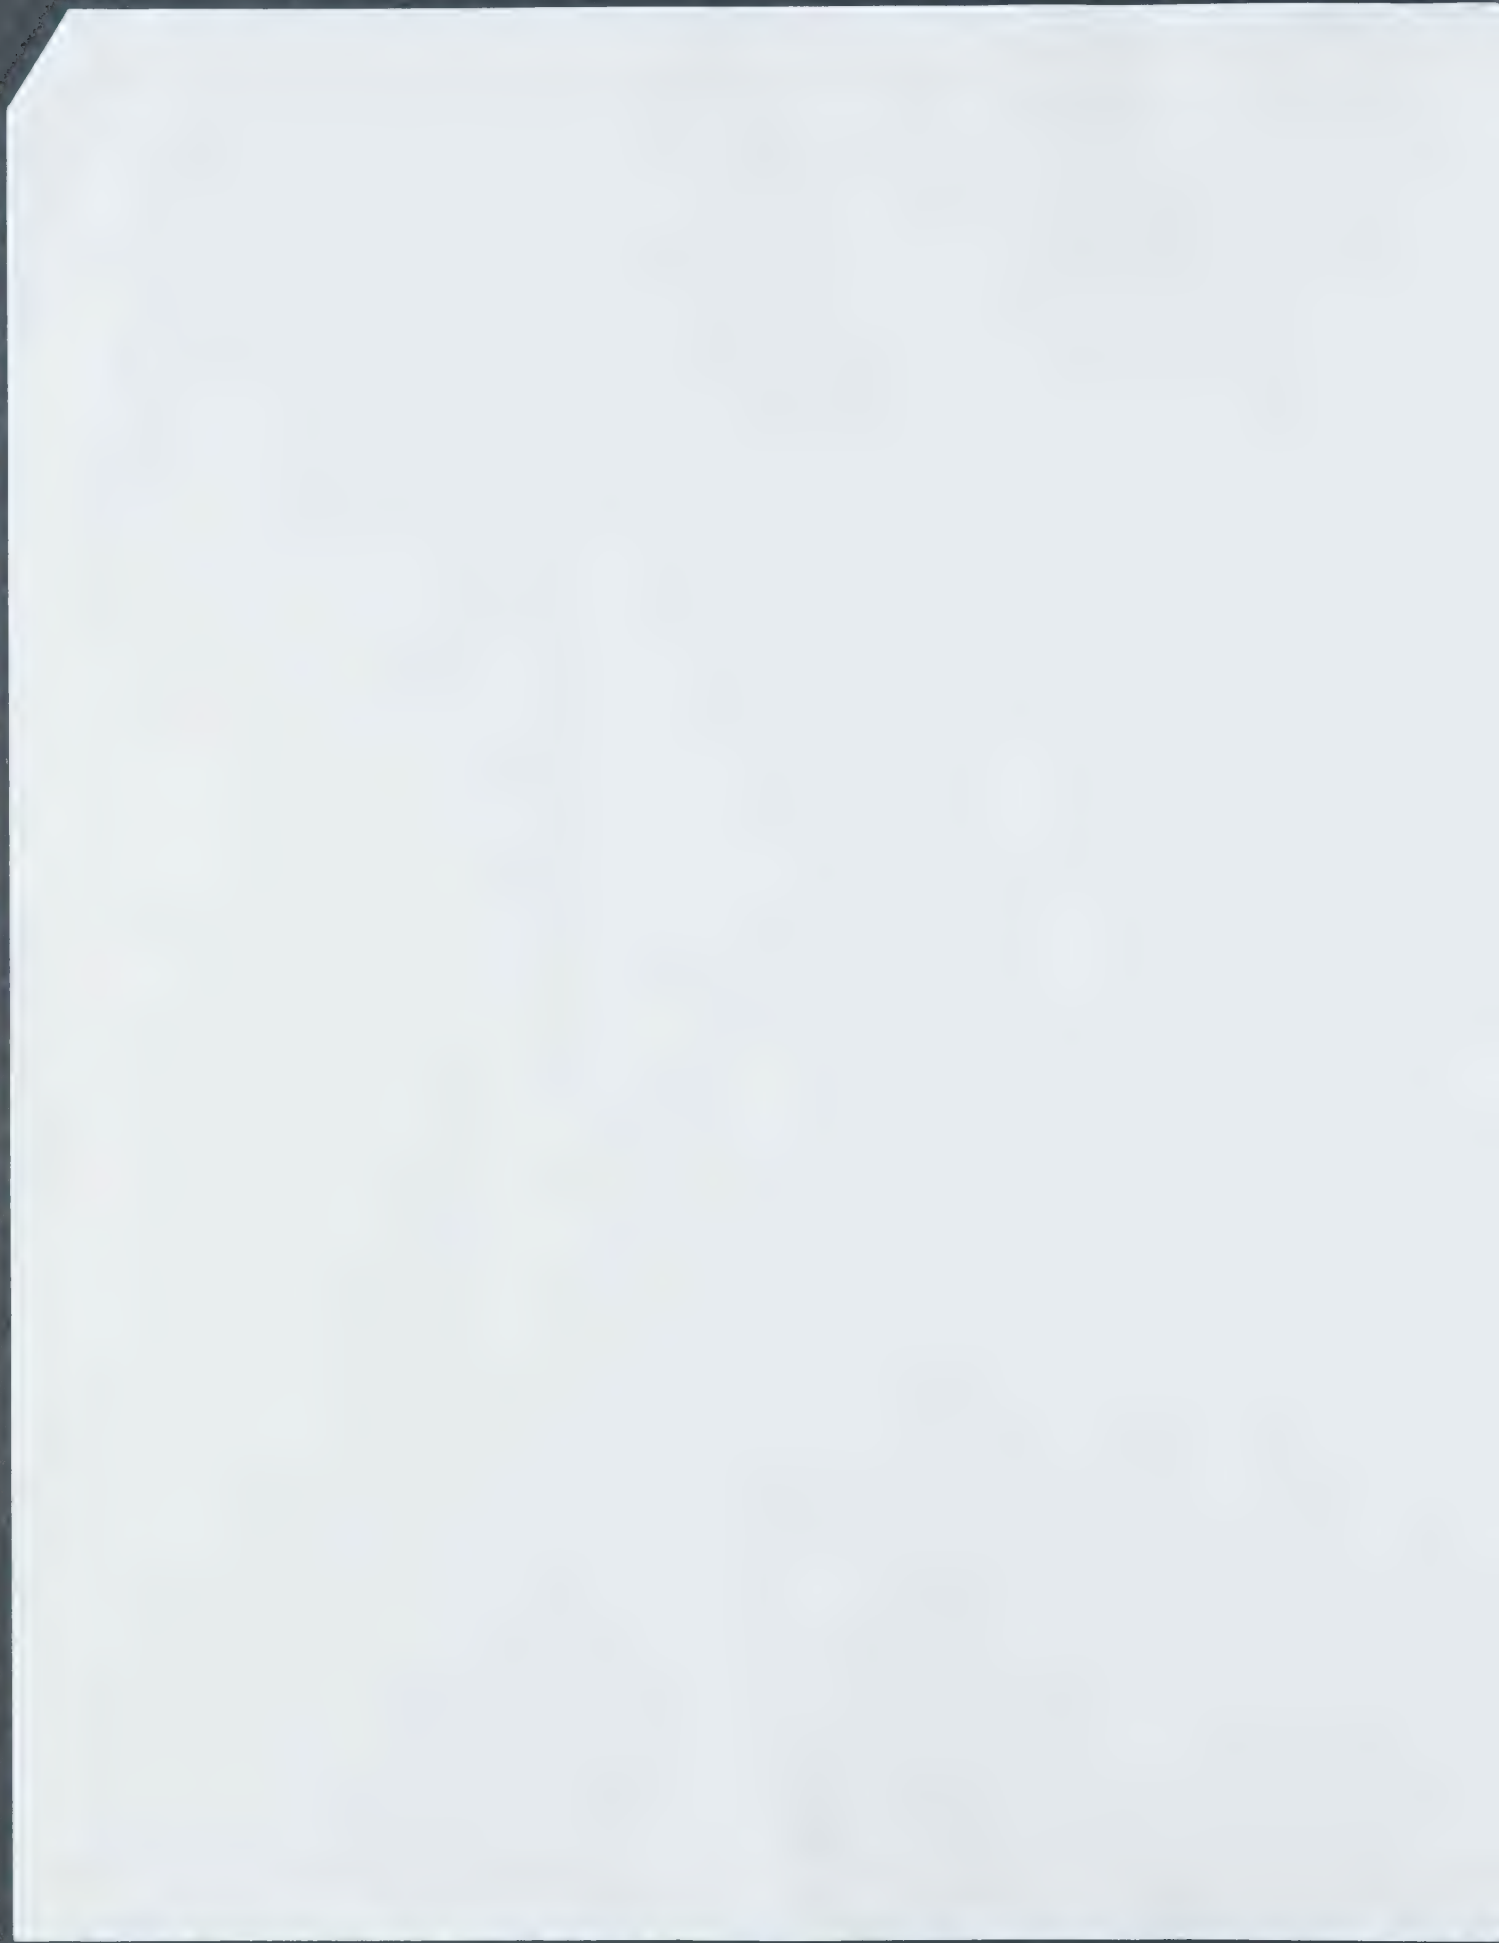

I hope your day goes well and I wish you a very happy Birthday!

Affectionately,

Judith

Dear Dr. Naumann:

On behalf of Queen's University, we are delighted that you have consented to accept the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws at the Convocation ceremony to be held on Tuesday, June 6, 2017, at 10:00 a.m., and that you are willing to give a brief address to the students on that occasion. I will report, with pleasure, your acceptance to the Senate.

In the upcoming months, Ms. Antonietta Easter, from our Office of the University Registrar, will be your Queen's point of contact in preparation of the ceremonial event.

Included is a package of materials that provides you with:

- information about travel and accommodation,
- an overview of the day's events, and
- a questionnaire to help us prepare for the honorary degree conferral and to make your campus visit here more enjoyable.

You are welcome to contact Ms. Antonietta Easter via email (toni.easter@queensu.ca) or fax (613-533-6409).

I look forward to seeing you on this special occasion.

You are welcome to contact Ms. Arciero Easter if you have any questions.

Dear Isabel,

I received the email below from an alumna who'd like to interview you and Alfred this coming summer.

She has asked me to connect her with you and Alfred..... I had a couple of thoughts and welcome your guidance:

- I could offer to arrange a telephone interview for you and her over the summer
- I could suggest that she write down some questions and forward them to you via email, so that you could write some answers
- I could send your regrets, indicating that you are too occupied with caregiving for Alfred to be able to participate

If you have other thoughts, I will of course proceed as you prefer!

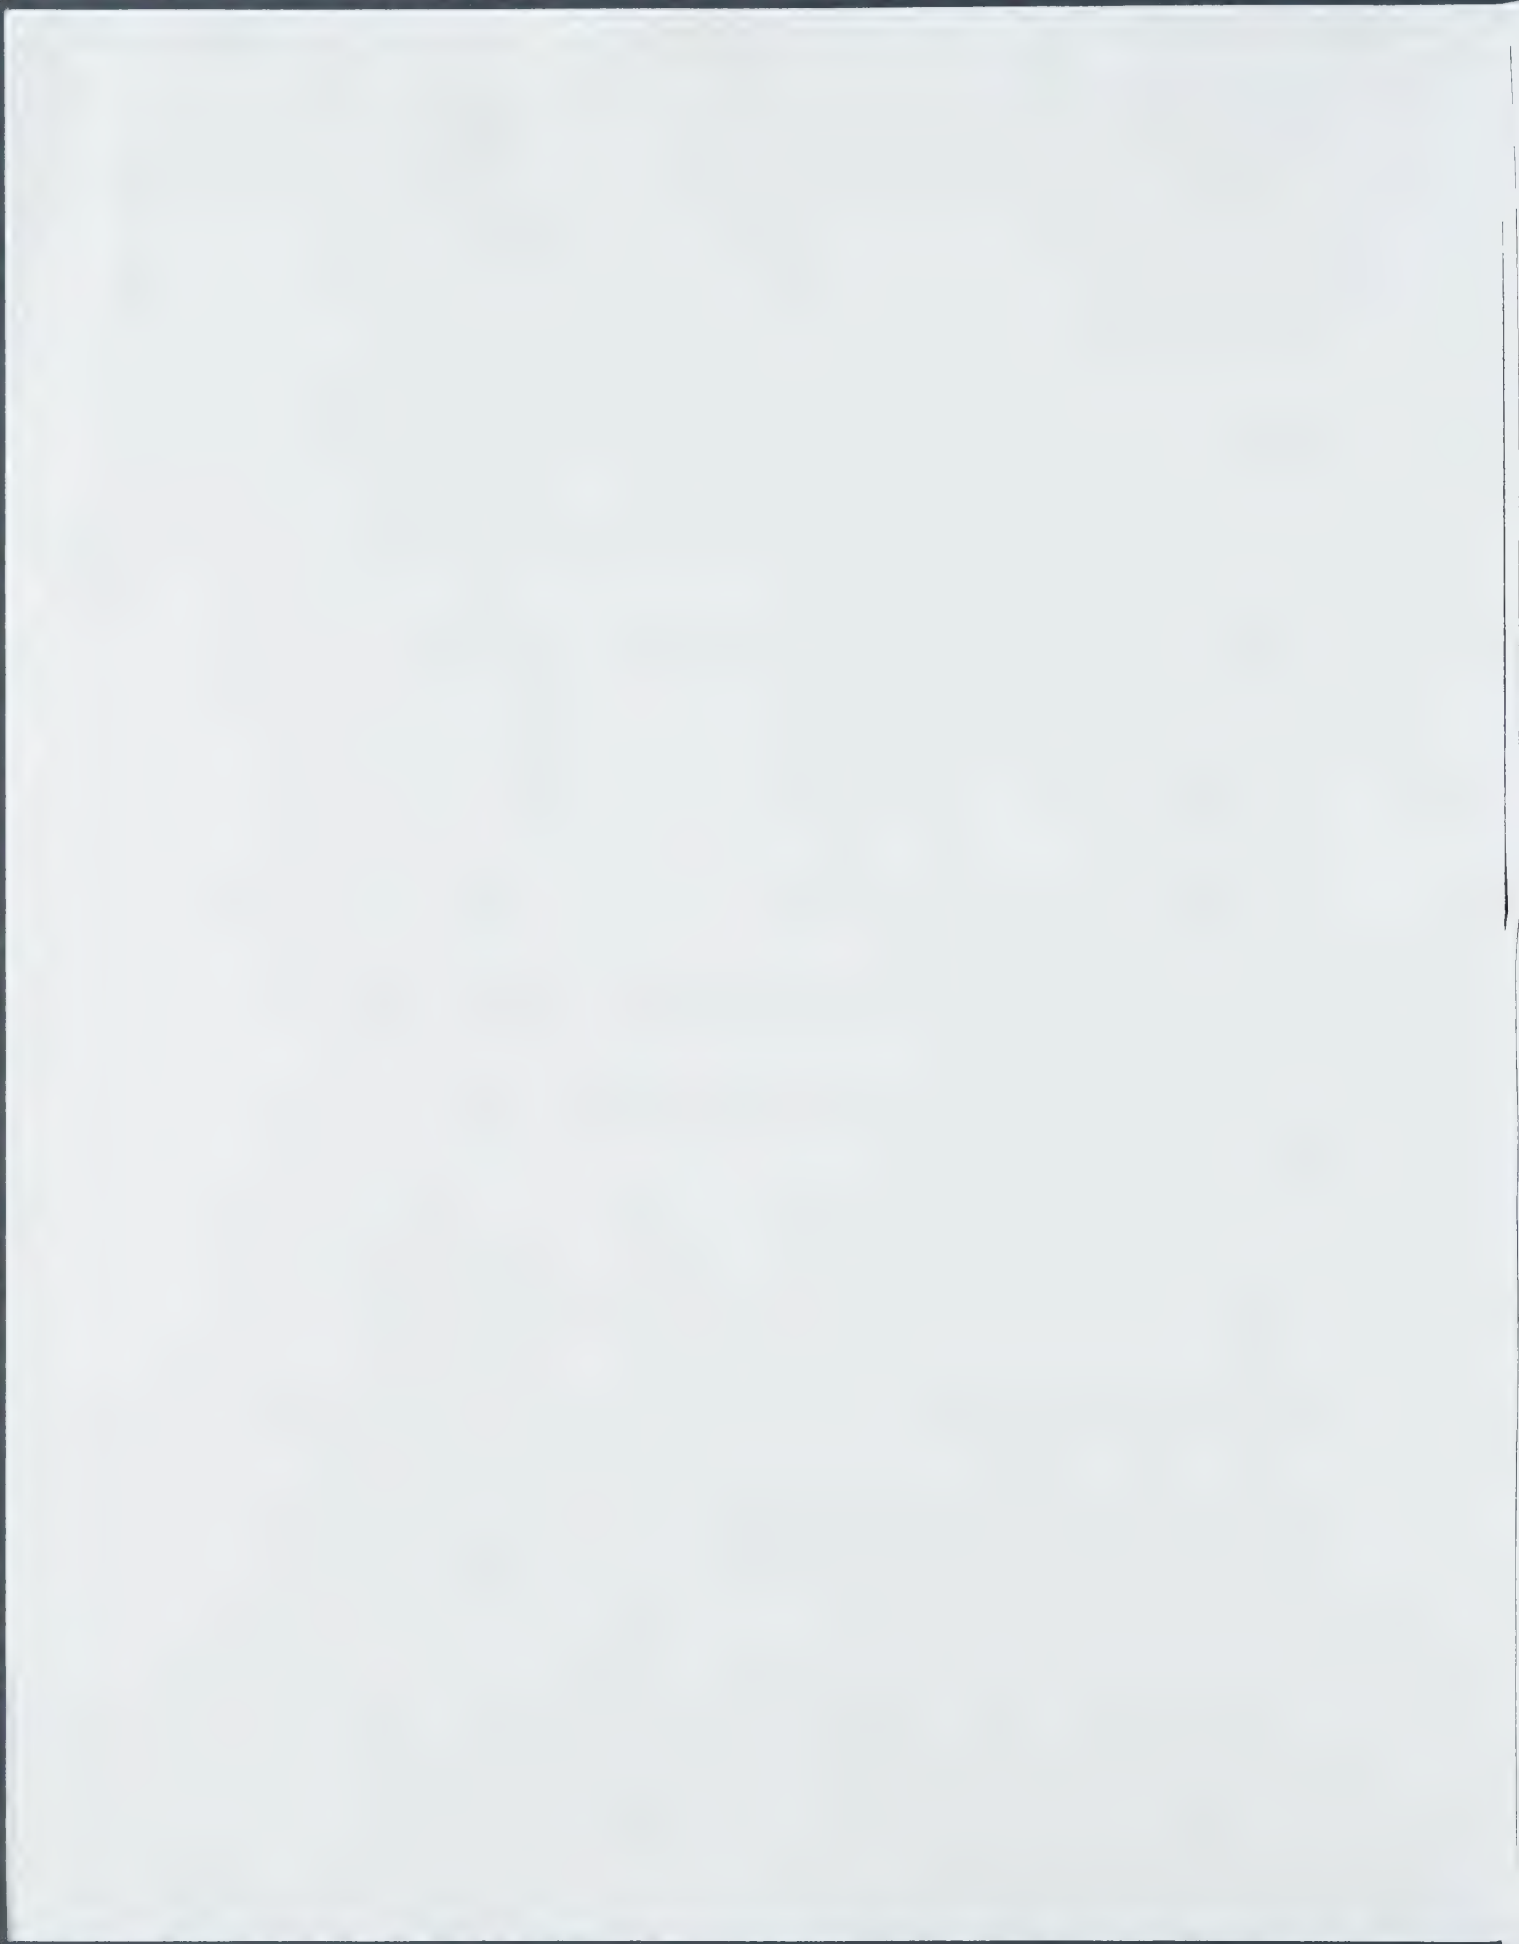

Here is her note:

Hi Judith,

I am writing to you because you are the Alumni contact associated with the profile of Isabel and Alfred Bader.

I am a Queen's alumni (PHE '07) and am a writer in the process of trying to publish my first novel. I am also a high school teacher in the Toronto Catholic School Board.

I have been inspired by the Baders' lives and love story since I read about them in this AMS article <https://myams.org/the-baders-a-tale-of-two-hearts/> and since hearing the documentary, Love Interrupted, on CBC radio a few years ago.

As a teacher, I also feel like I really identify with Isabelle especially and her story...I also taught in England!

nm

I would like to request permission from the Baders to write a work of creative non-fiction based on their lives and love story for my second novel. If possible, I would like to plan to interview them this summer if they are interested.

I know this is an odd request, but I am wondering if you could please help put me in touch with the Baders?

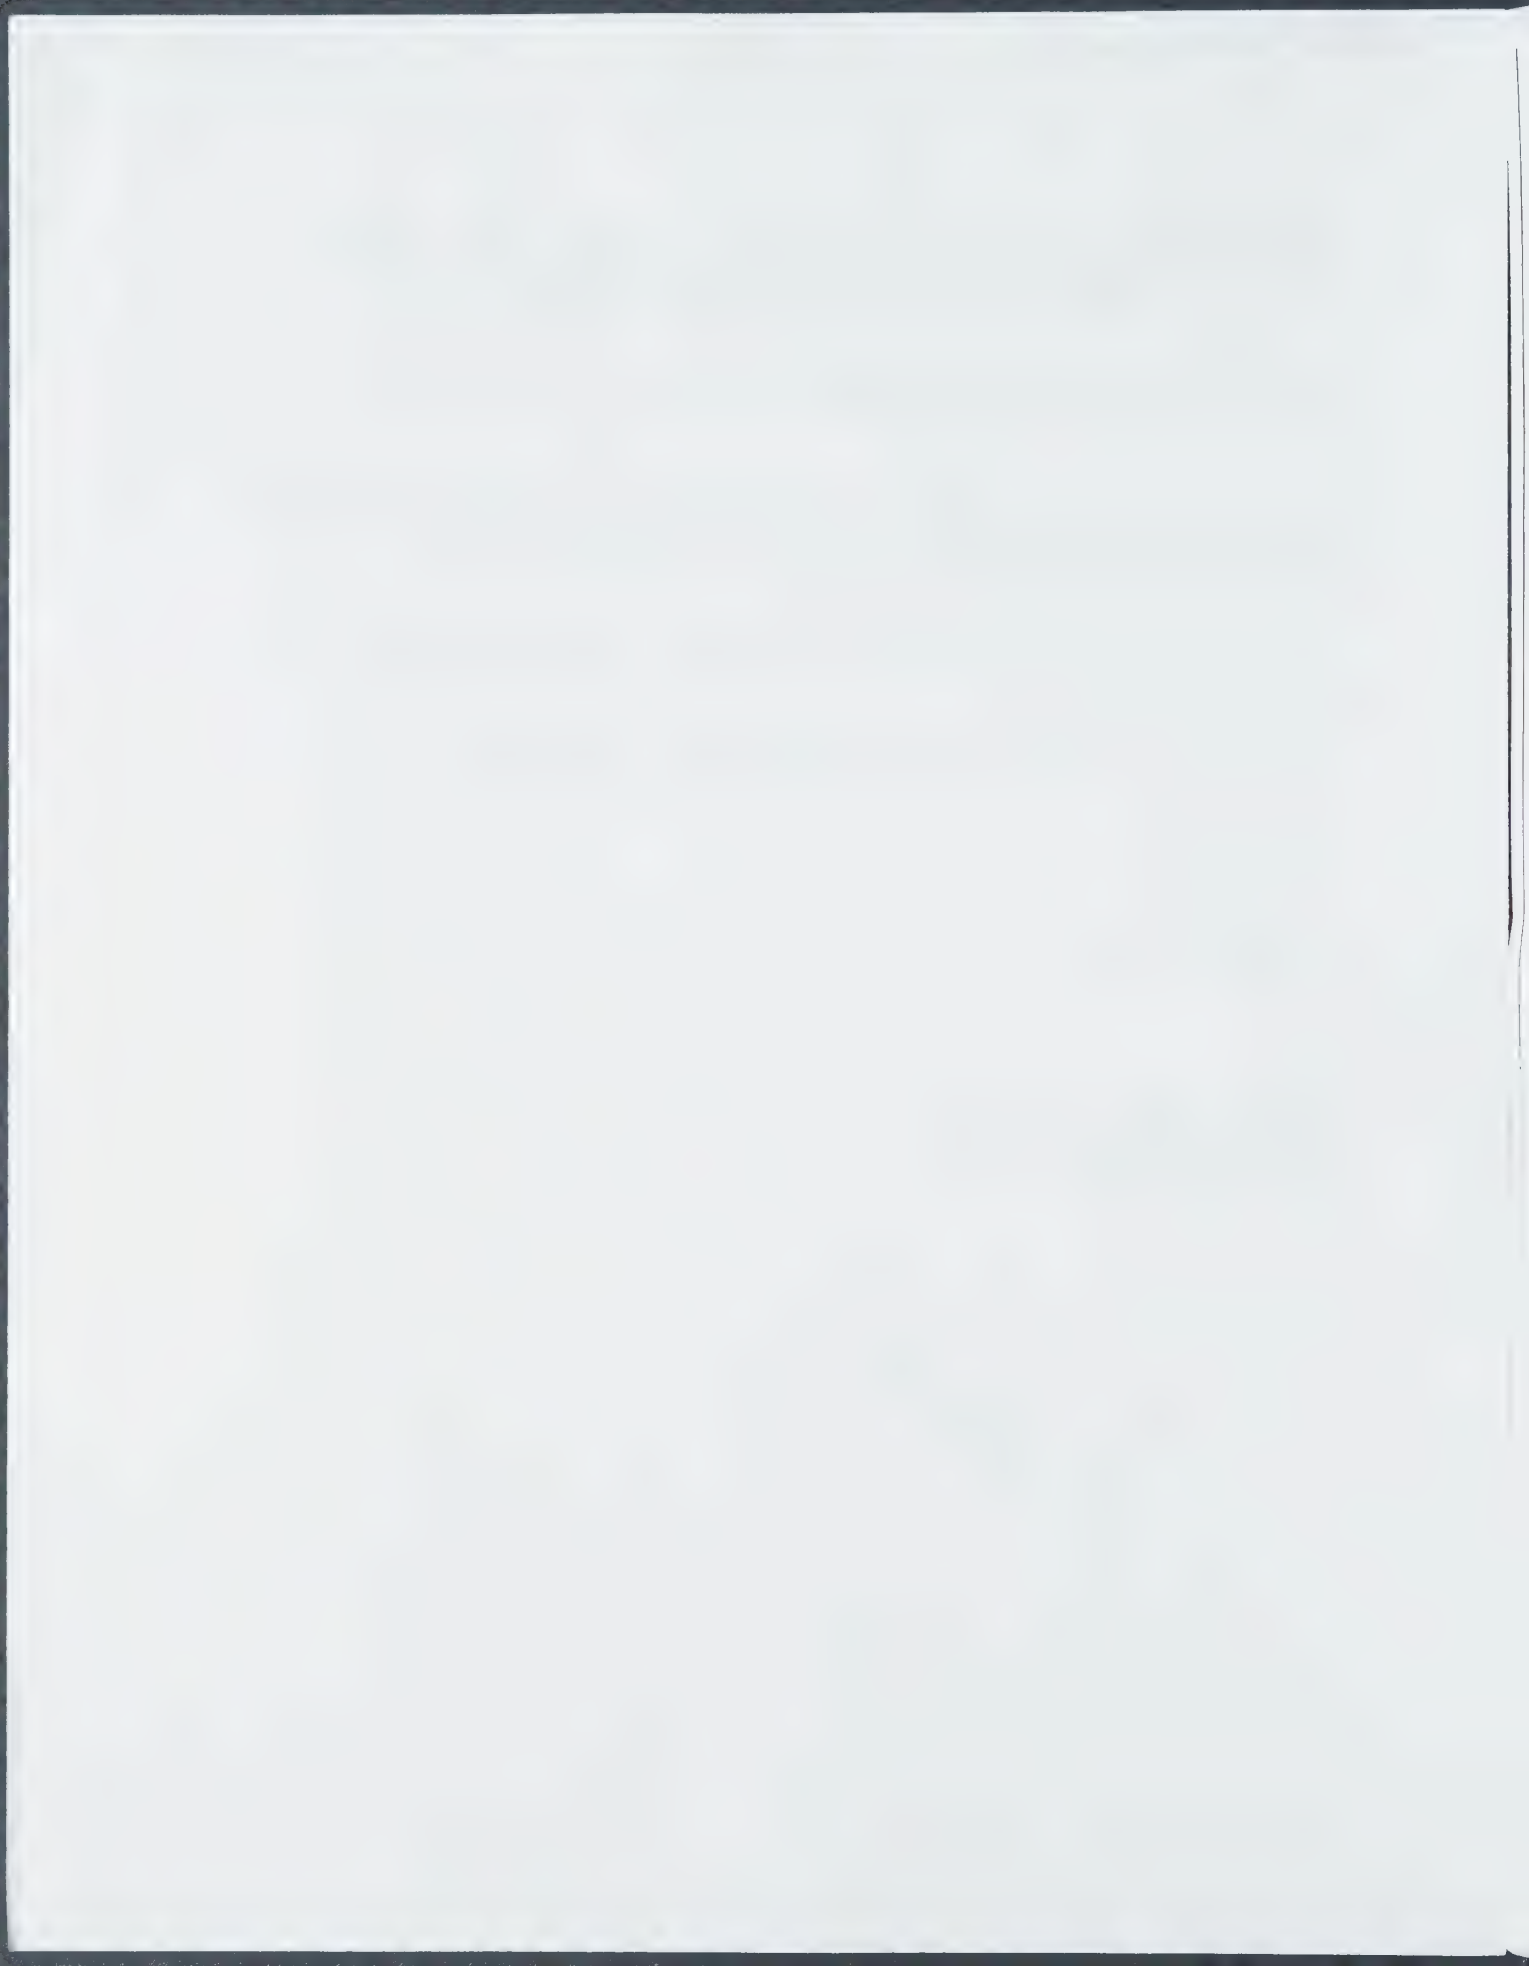

You can find more info about me at my website shannonmullen.me.

Thank you,

Shannon Mullen

Dear Isabel,

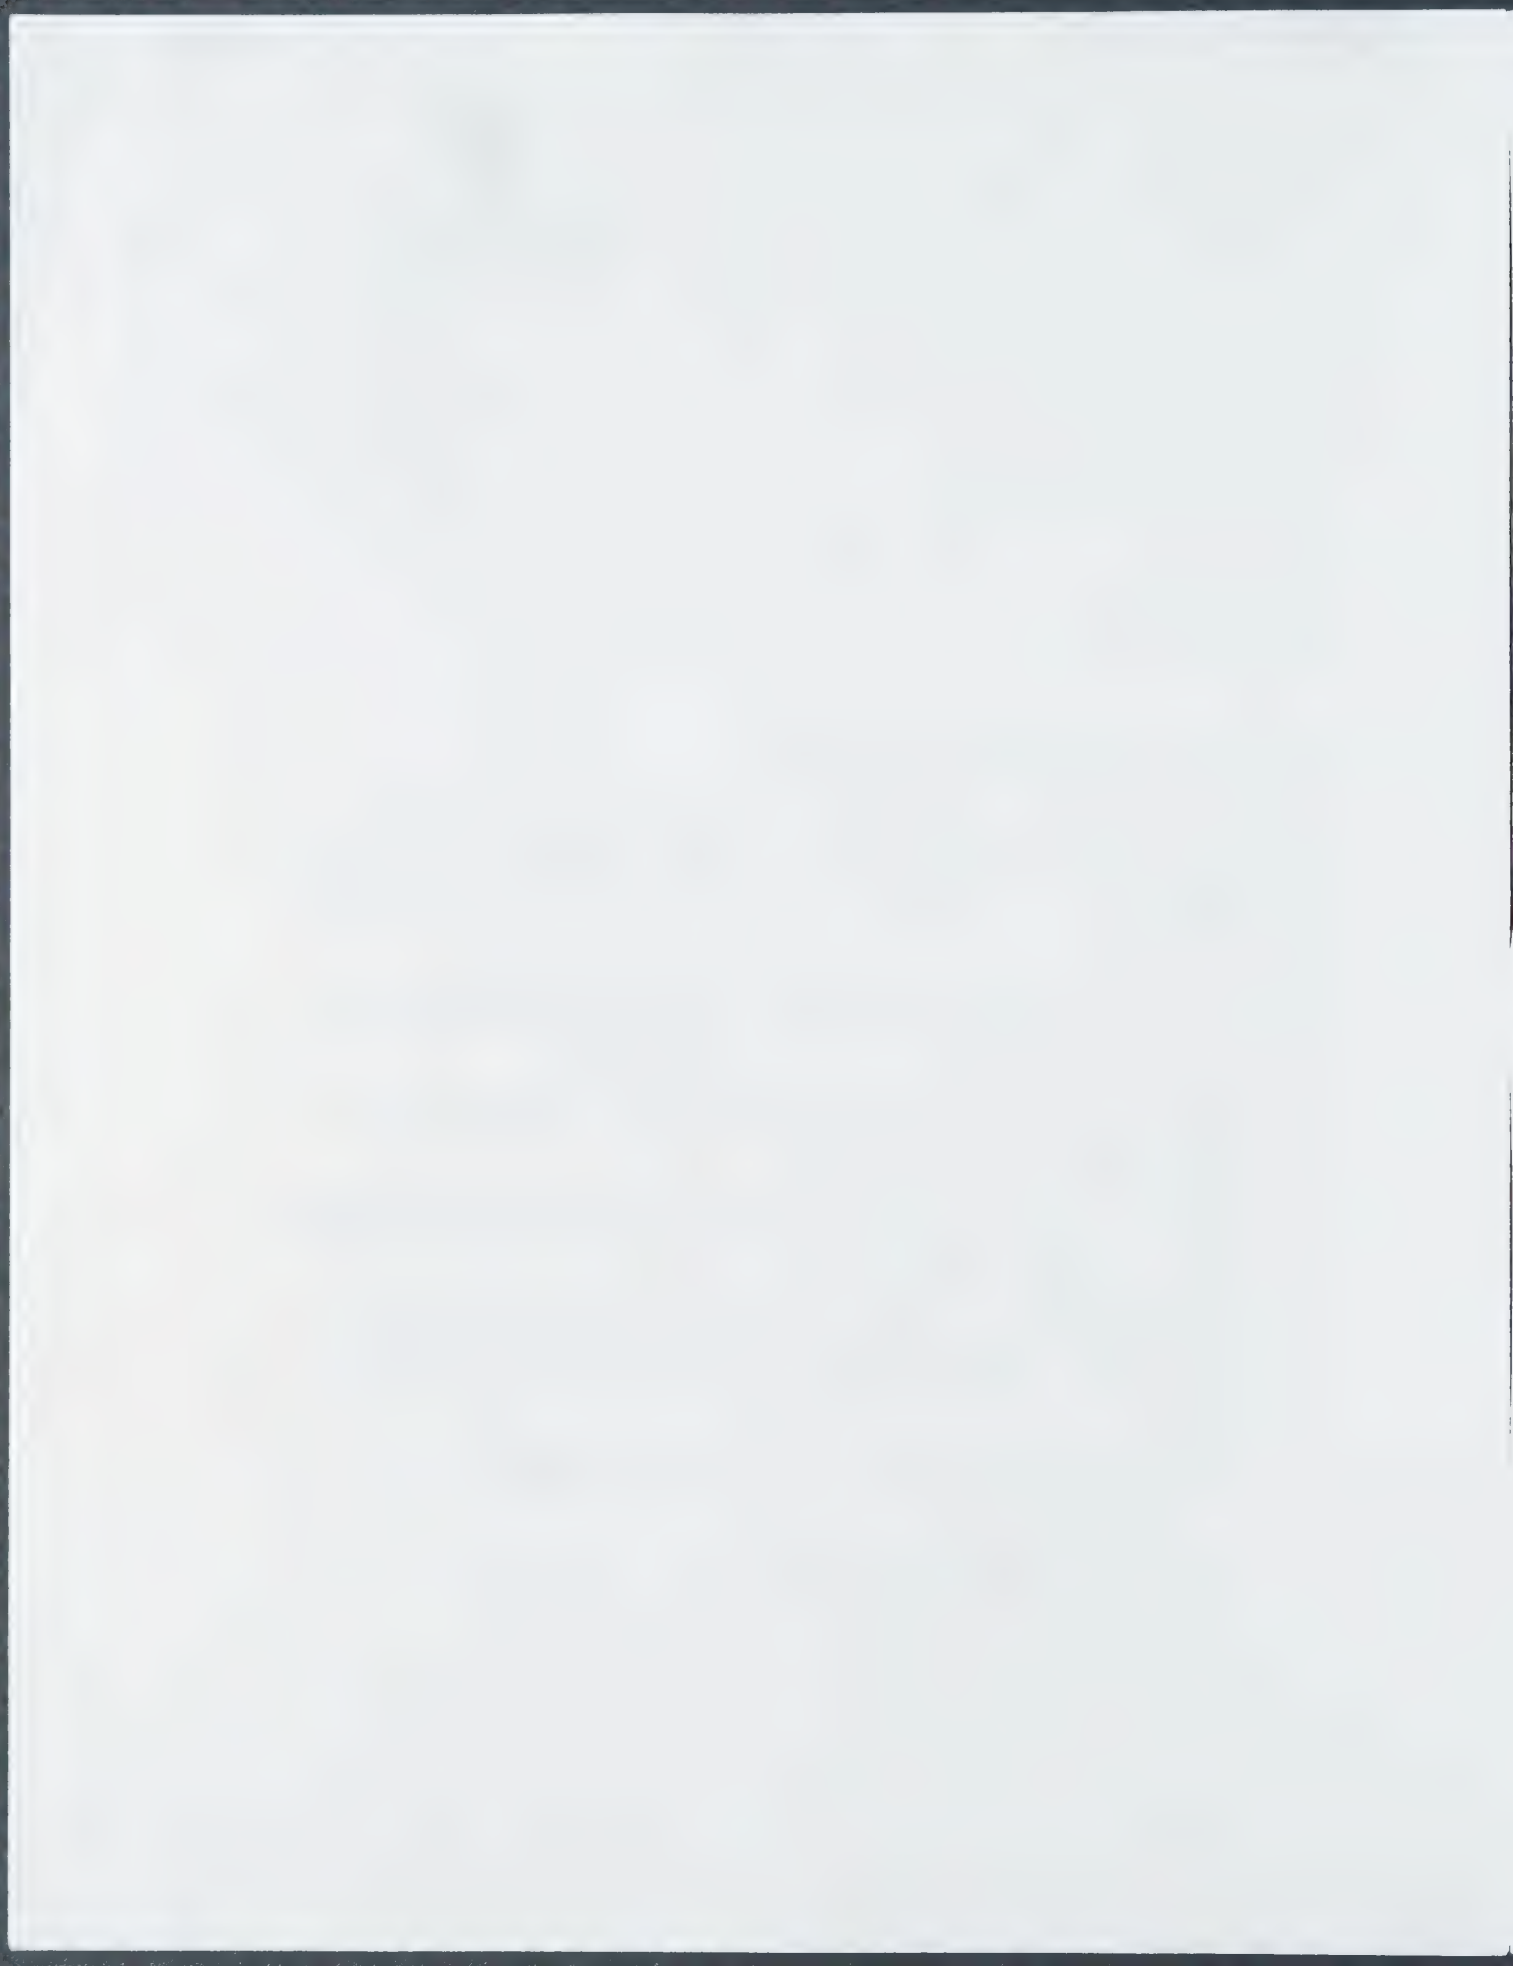

I am sorry I was unavailable yesterday!

Thank you for your voice message – I understand that you're tied up as of 11am your time, so may I call you at 10:15 your time to go through the schedule?

Below are some questions I'm hoping among other things that you can let me know your thinking on a few things, including:

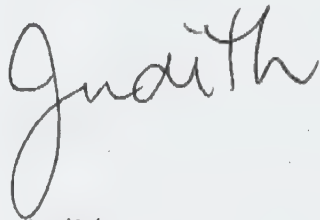

- Would you like to invite Boris and Barbara to the lunch with friends? Rec'd at home
- ~~Are Crandall and Barbara attending?~~ Yes to not coming letter, a alone.
- Could you check the email for ~~Vy~~ Tricia Clarke? I am receiving an error message when I try ~~Tricia_at_Rogers.com~~ Tricia@rogers.com you with the (parents?)
- Shall I invite Susan Solomon to join your family dinner just before the Saturday Violin finals, or would you prefer to meet her at the Isabel? my family dinner when she finishes
- Do you happen to know whether Crandall and Barbara are planning to attend? OK if alright if anyone plans to be
- There are 3 Violin Awards to be conferred; I was thinking:
 - 1st place: Isabel
 - 2nd place: Clifford OK
 - 3rd place: Margaret and Heather

How does this sound to you?

I welcome any other questions you have. I'm communicating with Marg and Heather to ensure that I have their input on their children.

With thanks,

PS Gordon and I attended a most wonderful concert last night at the Isabel -- Measha Brueggergosman and "Songs of Freedom". It was a sold-out performance and simply amazing.

Dear Isabel,

I am sending you two things – first, the latest version of the schedule, and then the latest version of the invitation list.

I have a few questions I'm hoping you can help me with – may we talk later today at some point when you have a few minutes? I'd like to walk you through the plans so far and make sure everything looks ok.

I will try you at 2:15 or so (your time) and see if that works.

If not, please call me at your convenience. I am available except between 1pm and 2pm (your time).

With thanks,

Isabel's visit: Wednesday April 26 to Sunday, April 30

Subject: Violin Competition Schedule

Dear Isabel, Marg, Heather, Cliff, and Wayne.

This morning I met with Tricia Baldwin, Director of the Isabel, to discuss the upcoming Isabel Overton Bader Canadian Violin competition. Tricia has provided information below. She reminds us that timing is subject to change depending on the length of deliberations, etc. Please let me know if you have questions. I will update you again soon with more information. Formal programs will be prepared before too long.

Summary:

The Violin semi-finals will be held on Wednesday, April 26th and Thursday April 27th. There are eight semi-finalists. Four will perform on Wednesday, and four on Thursday. Thursday evening, three finalists will be announced. These three individuals will have Friday, April 28th to practise. The finale will take place on Saturday, April 29th, beginning at 6pm.

Dear Daniel,

Following Jan's message, I write with details about this wonderful donation.

Jan and I are eager to present Abraham van Dijck's Widow of Zarephath and Her Son at our upcoming Acquisition Committee meeting on 7 April. As part of my preparation for presentation to our Committee, I will submit the work to the Art Loss Register this afternoon.

Immediately following the Acquisition Committee's approval, the Deed of Gift document can be signed, and we will proceed with shipping arrangements. We've found that having the deed in hand facilitates importation.

Thank you for your initiative in starting the appraisal process. We're pleased and grateful for the family's support for crating, insurance, and shipping of the painting to Kingston. Naturally, we will work closely with a reputable shipper to ensure that the painting arrives safely at Queen's. I'll speak to Isabel on Monday to ascertain whether a crate exists for the painting.

Please let me know your thoughts on this plan: I trust it's agreeable. I'm happy to discuss any questions you might have.

All my best from Kingston,
Jacquelyn

Dear Daniel,

This is wonderful, welcome news! Thank you.

Thank you, too, for your note about the practical steps to put this gift into effect. This will be a new gift and we'll move smoothly and swiftly through all the requisite steps. I will meet tomorrow (Friday) with Jacquelyn to plan the process, and she'll follow up with you thereafter.

Don't hesitate to be in touch if you have any questions or concerns along the way.

With very best regards,
Jan

Subject: Gift of Abraham Van Dijck

Jacquelyn and Jan,

I understand that my father, Alfred Bader, gave instructions on March 1, 2017 to send the Abraham Van Dijck from his home to Queens. This is exciting indeed.

Is this considered a new gift to Queens, or was this part of the earlier gift to Queens? If it is a new gift, then I imagine that we will need to proceed with a gift agreement of the painting.

Will we need a formal valuation of the painting for the gift? If so, then Ann can proceed with getting the painting appraised for the gift.

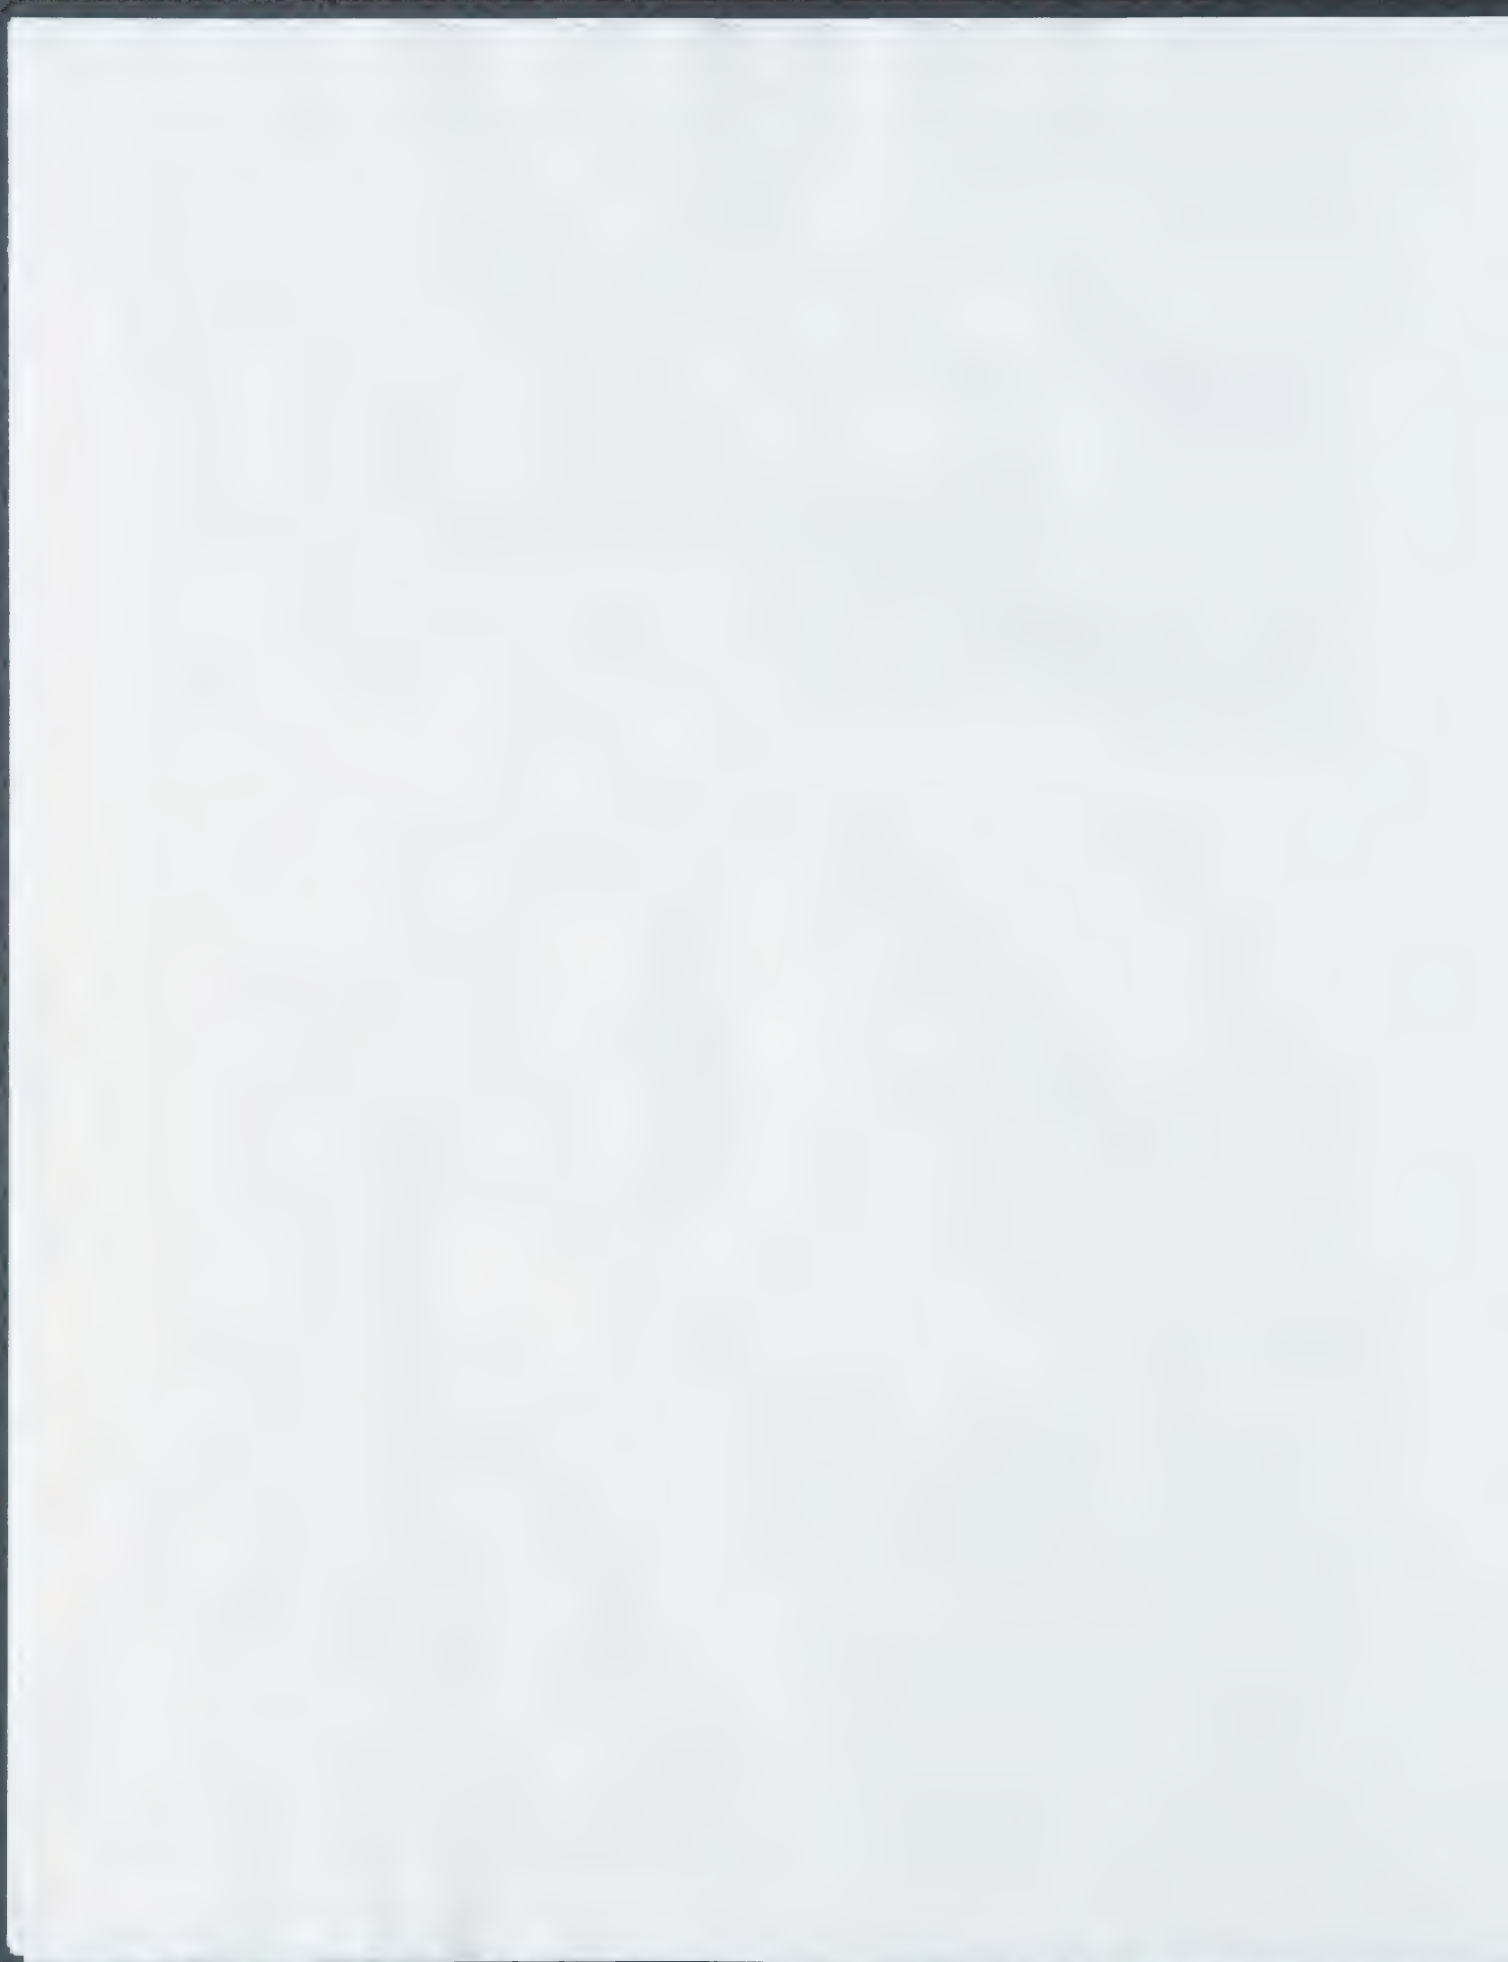

We would like Queens (presumably the Agnes Etherington Art Centre) to arrange for the packing,

Dear Isabel,

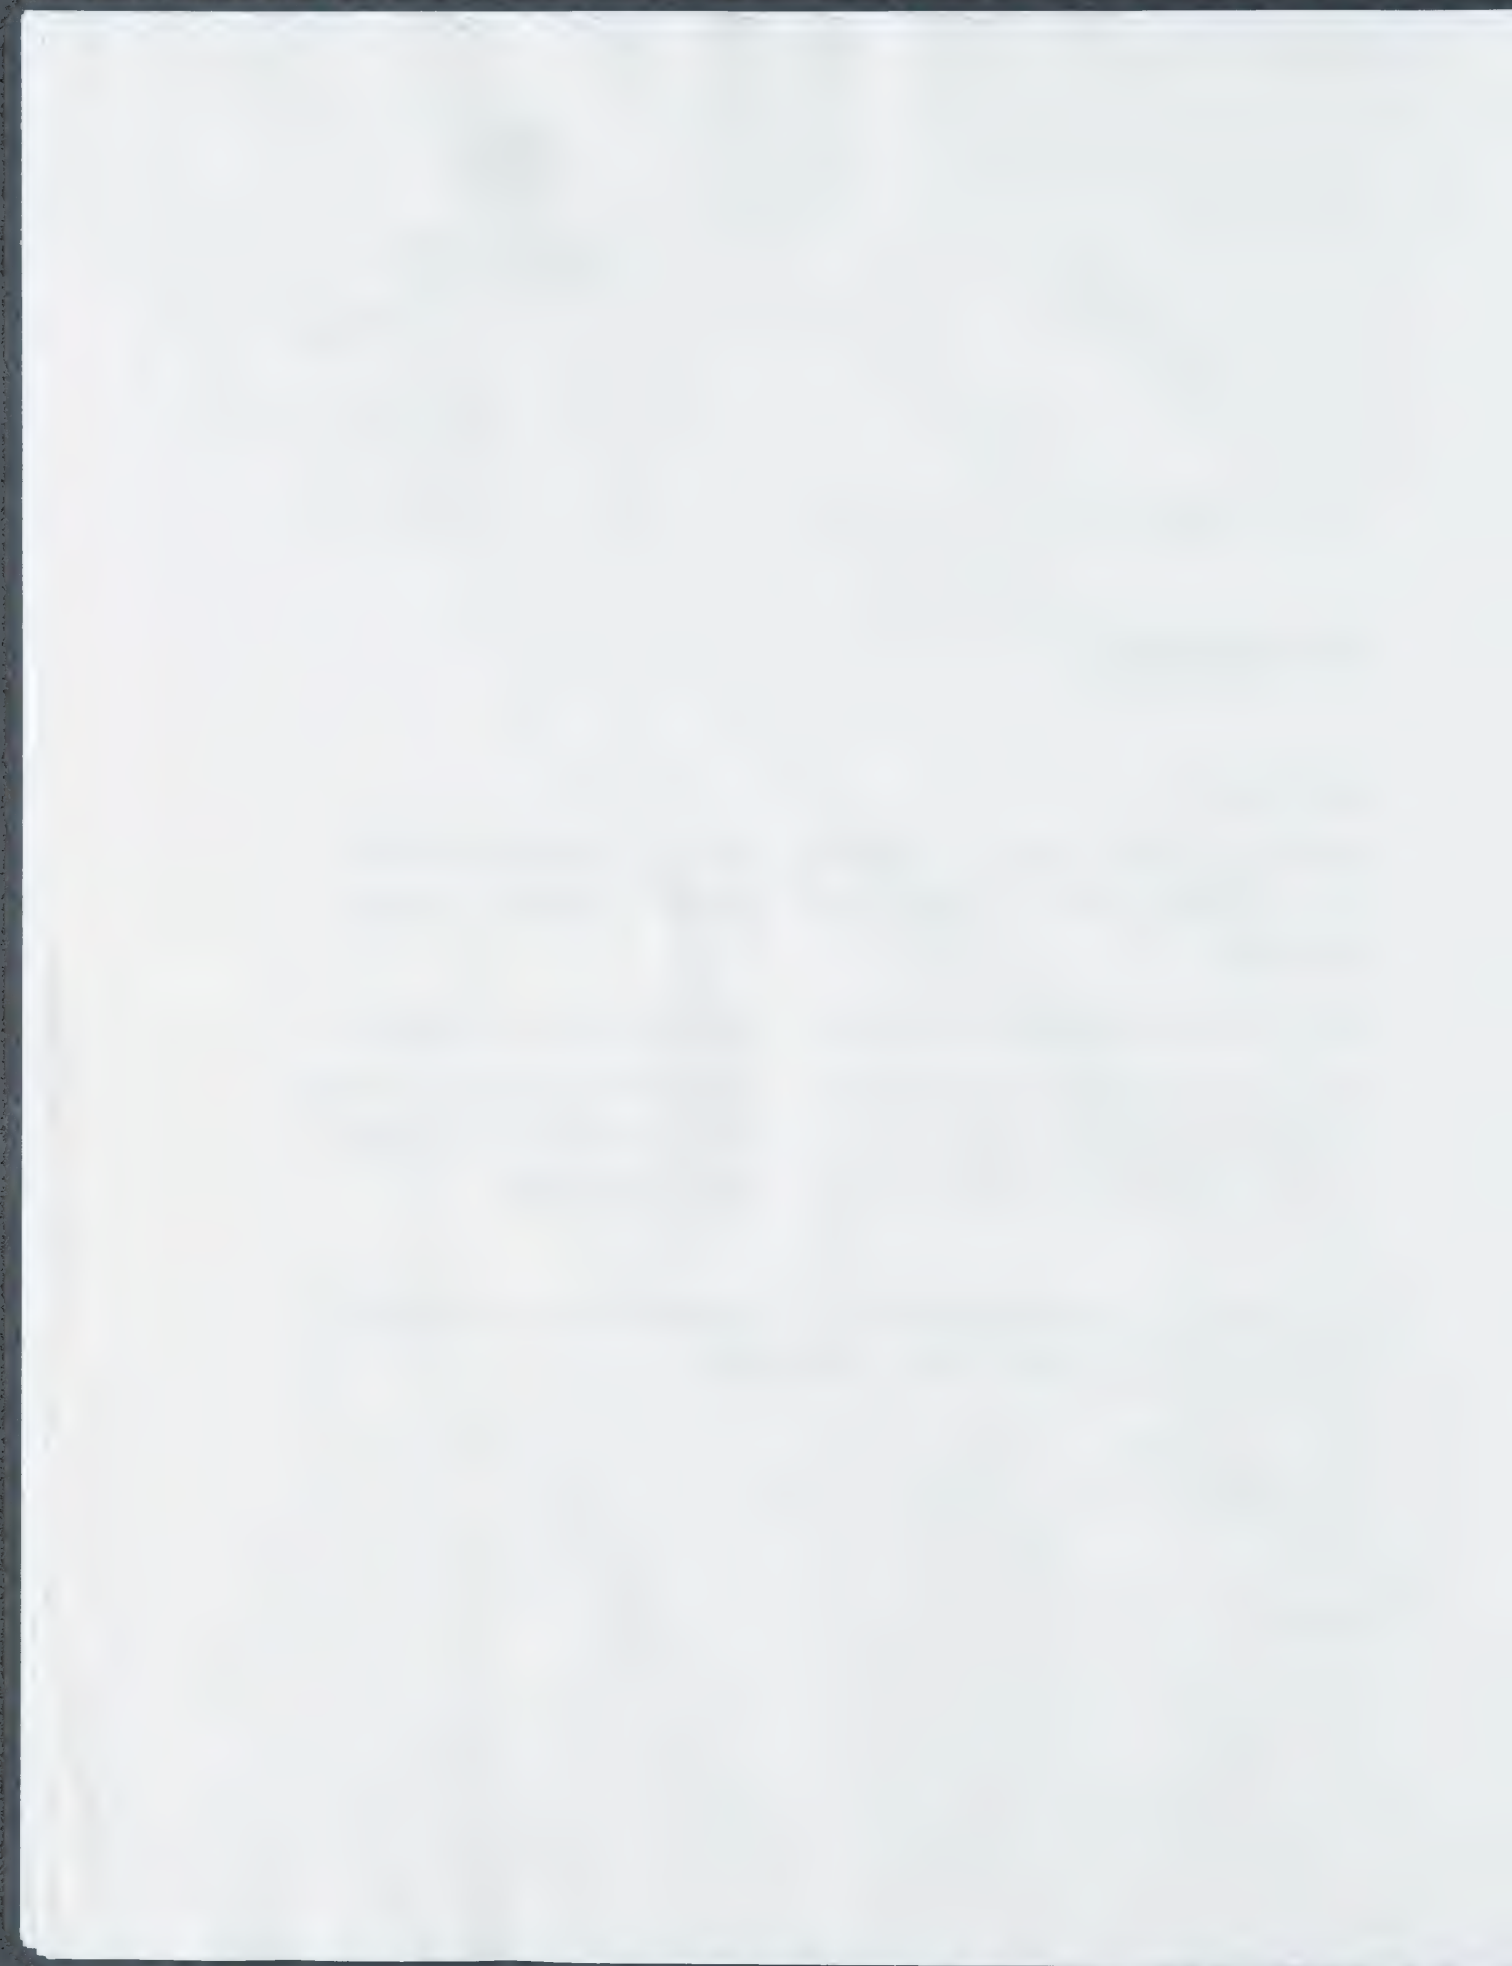

A very quick note to let you know that Susan Solomon has accepted your invitation to join you at the Violin Competition Gala on Saturday April 29th.

Here is what she wrote to Teresa Alm, who conveyed your invitation:

Concerning the invite by Isabel Bader I am delighted to inform you that I will gladly attend the event! I am honestly so excited that she thought of me. Pass my love and kind regards to her and Dr. Bader.

I often think about the good that Susan will do in the world, thanks to the opportunity she had from you and Alfred.

Judith

Dear Isabel,

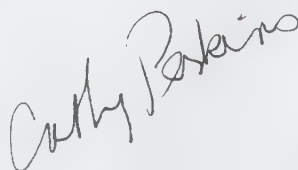

It was nice to talk earlier today.

Here is another option for a visit from Provost Bacon – he is in Toronto on Tuesday May 30, and could come to Milwaukee on Wednesday May 31st.

Once you've had time to consider, thank you for letting me know your thinking.

Sincerely,

Judith

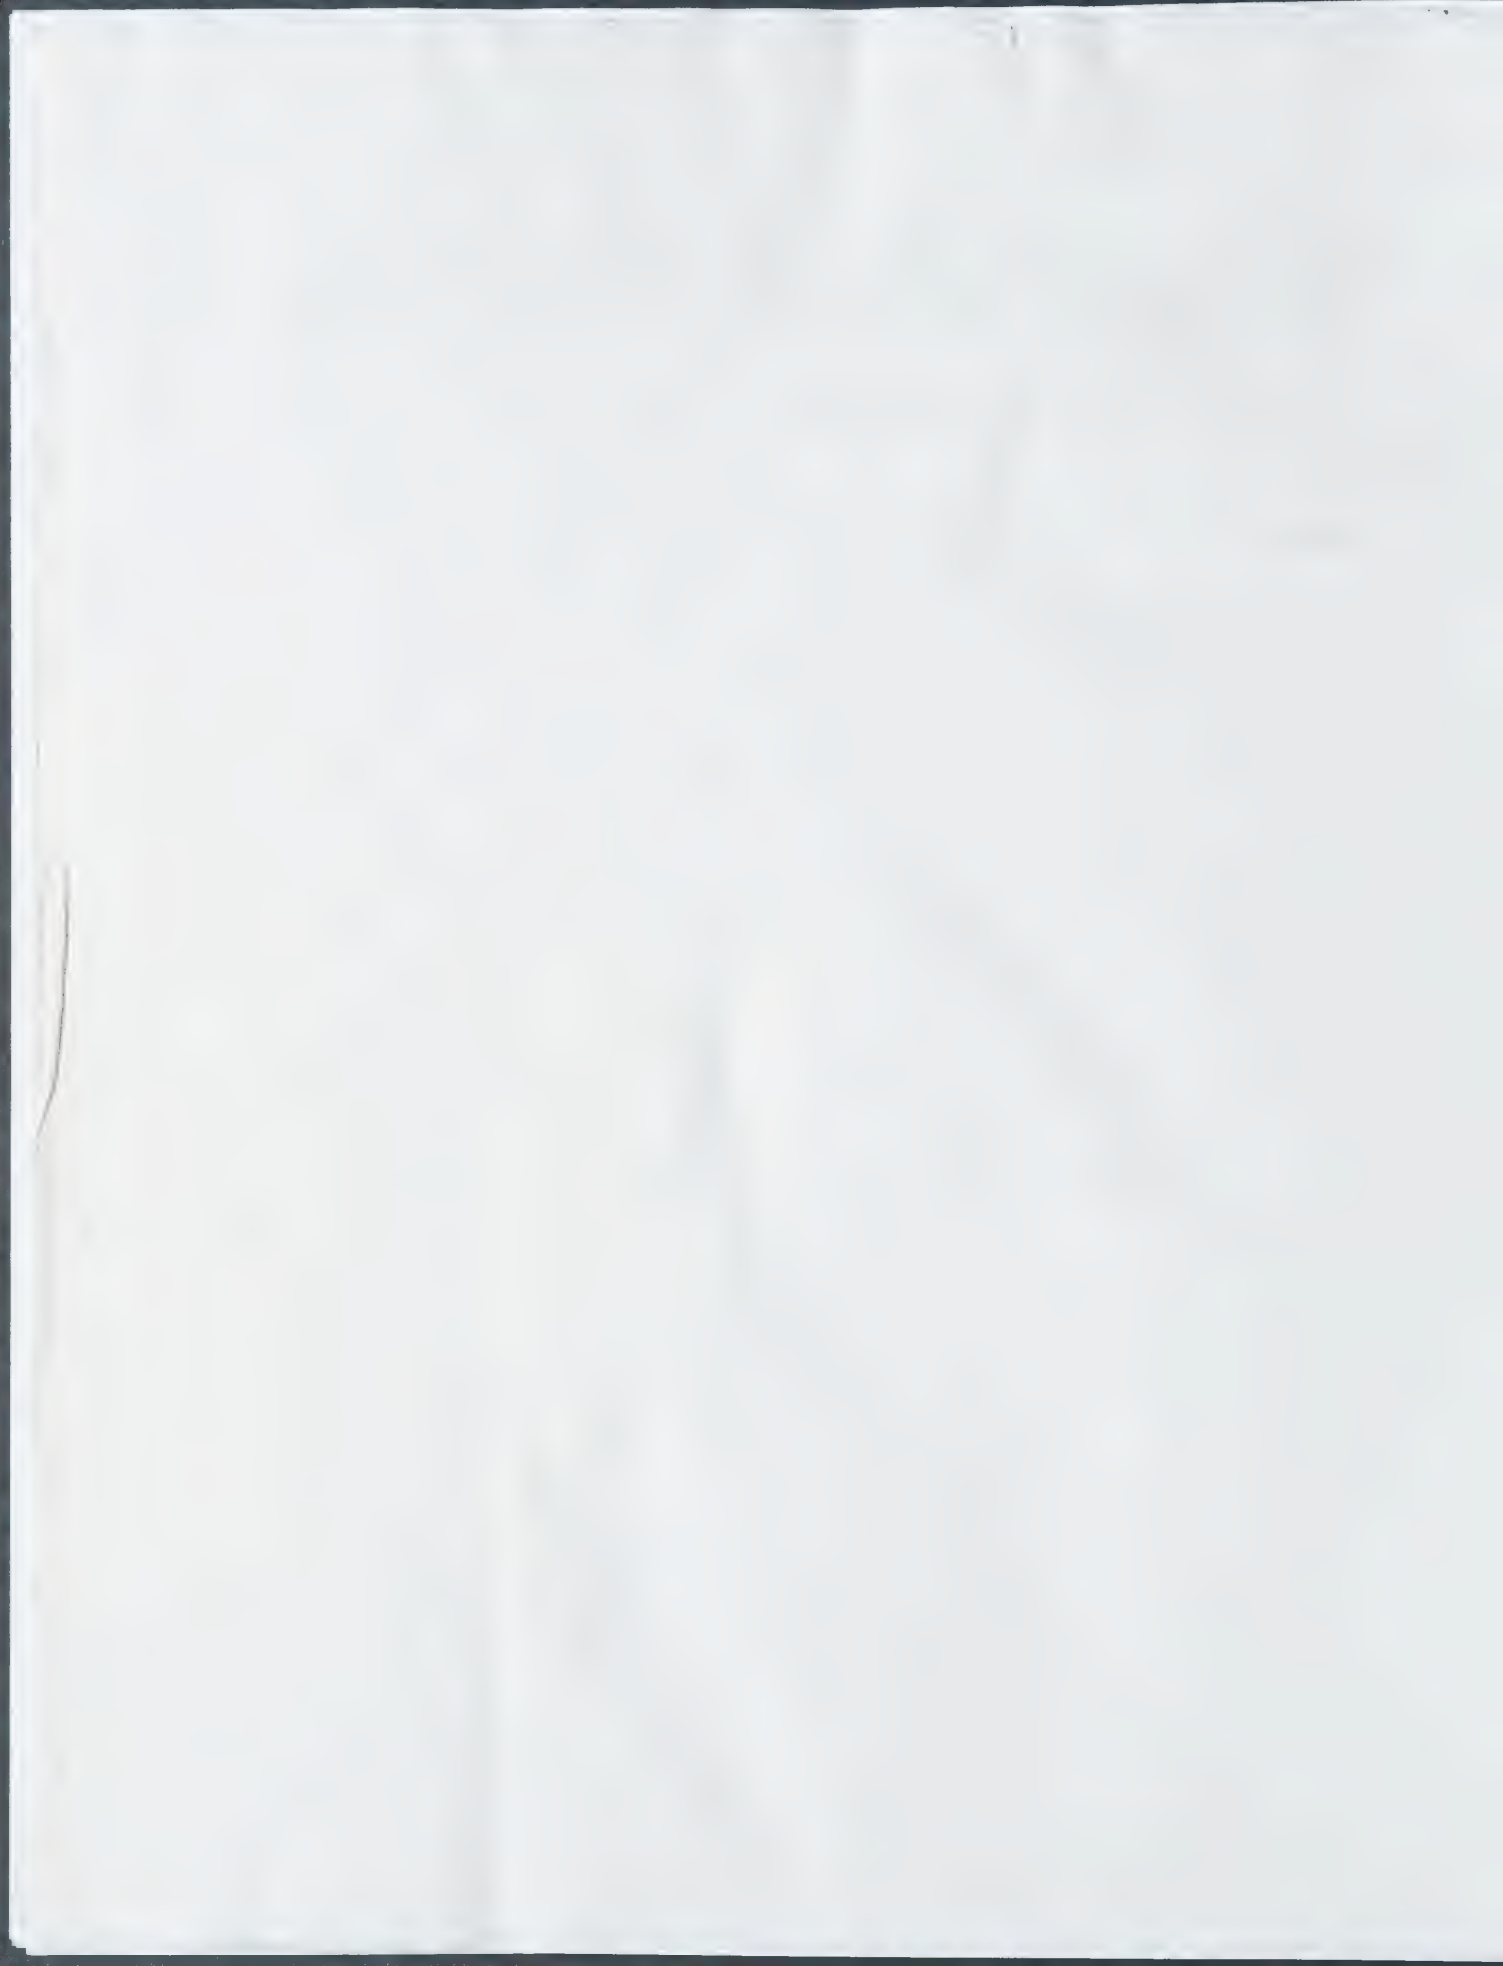

shipping & travel insurance of the painting. The packing and shipping should be done by a reputable art shipper such as Masterpiece International. The family will pay for the packing, shipping and insurance of the gift.

I look forward to seeing the painting at the Agnes!

What we wear and what it says about us!

On Thursday, November 24, Dr. Nancy Butler spoke at the Ban Righ Centre about the significance of clothing and fashion, and their interconnections with self, culture, society, and economy. Dr. Butler, an adjunct professor, in the Department of Gender Studies at Queen's University, teaches a Gender, Dress, and Fashion course that encourages students to explore their relationships to dress and fashion, through an examination of some of the many ways clothes and fashion matter. With a final project that requires students to design an article of clothing, students are required to illuminate some of the gendered and gendering complexities of "just" getting dressed. Former student Parker O'Connor described what inspired a dress he made from the pages of a Vogue magazine. The audience was fascinated by the student's response, and understood the pertinence of O'Connor's and Dr. Butler's words about how we comprehend ourselves and operate in the world. With this idea in mind, in this newsletter other Queen's community members share a little bit more about the physical and metaphorical fabrics in our everyday lives.

Student Research Spotlight by Sheilagh Quaille

I'm a first-year PhD student in Art History at Queen's. My thesis will look at the design and designers of Paisley shawls (that is, shawls made in Paisley, Scotland) during the nineteenth century. The shawls are of interest to me not only because they were a popular and enduring fashion, but because their story is international. Imported to Europe in the mid-eighteenth century from the Kashmir region of India, the cloth that inspired the shawls was favoured due to the softness of its material (which was made from the wool of Himalayan goats) and its ornate and intricate handwoven designs. Some European women fashioned and wore the cloth as shawls. As this trend caught on, French and British manufacturers experimented in replicating the shawl cloth for their domestic markets, and, naturally, the designs and materials were adjusted to suit European climates and manufacturing technologies. Shawl manufacturers in Paisley saw particular success. This was due in part to their early adoption of the Jacquard loom, which allowed for more elaborate woven designs. In fact, Paisley's industry became so famous that the shawls' characteristic buta motif came to be known by many English speakers as "paisley."

On completing my PhD, I intend to continue to research and teach in academia. This year I was delighted to discover the Ban Righ Centre, an invaluable resource that provides quiet space to work, interpersonal support, talks by visiting speakers, soup lunches, and idea-generating conversation!

An Inspiring event to Remember by Rebecca Pero

As promised, on Tuesday, October 18, 2016 the Ban Righ Foundation's "Inspiring Women: An evening at the Isabel" event inspired! Nearly 500 women, as well as a few men, gathered at the Isabel Bader Centre for the Performing Arts to celebrate the achievements of Dr. Katherine McKittrick and Ms. Georgette Fry, who received the inaugural Ban Righ Foundation Mentorship and Leadership Awards, respectively. Guest host Shelagh Rogers (BA '77) guided the four panellists through a series of interesting questions; the panel included Sarah Harmer, Dr. Jane Errington, Reena Kukreja, and Carol Ann Budd. The panellists spoke honestly and humorously, much to the delight of the audience, about their experiences and motivations. The panel was followed by Fry's Shout Sister Choir, and by singer Chantal Thompson. The evening was not complete without PhD Candidate Sarah Kastner sharing her story, Dr. Elizabeth Greene delivering an original poem (see the next page), and singer-songwriter Sarah Harmer singing three melodious songs. What a wonderfully heart-warming and thought-provoking evening! As one attendee noted, "my soul and mind felt enriched and re-aligned." What beautiful sentiments! Thank you to all those involved; without your contributions, the event would not have been a success.

Riding the Trump-Trudeau Wave

Kathy Brock, Professor, School of Policy Studies, Queen's University

The 2016 American election saw the unexpected rise of Donald Trump as the Republican Party Presidential candidate and the polarization of the electorate behind two highly unpopular leaders. The 2015 Canadian election witnessed the unexpected rise of Justin Trudeau as the Liberal Party leader and the rejection of an unpopular Conservative leader. The US experience is compared to the 1930s and 1940s while the Canadian case is presented as a resurgence of Canadian values.

This is misleading. The two victories may be seen as swept along by similar forces operating in Canada and the US.

Understanding the wide-ranging potential of Basic Income (BI)

Toni Pickard, Retired Law Professor, Coordinator of the Kingston Action Group for a Basic Income Guarantee

Recent political exploration of BI is based on more than its poverty reducing potential. BI can also ease income insecurity, sustain currently unpaid caring work, graduates, seasonal workers, people retraining, and creative artists. It will rebalance bargaining power and revitalize local economies. We have to question our moral/cultural/political attachment to paid labour as the only respect-worthy means to 'earning' a decent life. The role of human labour is shrinking at every income level. BI will help us adjust.

From Geopolitics of Violence to Actors at the Borders: Rethinking the Kurdish Conflict at the Local level

Dilan Okcuoglu, PhD Candidate, Department

of Cultural Studies, Queen's University

A local (i.e. micro-level) analysis of ethnic conflict and political violence has recently attracted significant interest from researchers. Prior to that, most scholars working in the fields of conflict analysis and security studies have tended to use only macro-level datasets in order to explain the causes of political violence and war. Yet, these studies are likely to avoid many local factors in explaining the cycles of violence, conflict and peace making. In order to fill this gap in the literature, my talk offers new insights on the Kurdish-Turkish conflict by emphasizing local experiences and meanings of violence at the Turkish-Iranian and Turkish-Iraqi borderlands.

Mindfulness

Terry Haynes, Founder and MBSR Teacher, Kingston Meditation Centre

This will be an opportunity to find out what mindfulness is all about and its importance to stress reduction in our lives. Better health and well-being result when we reduce our stress levels through present- awareness. This will be an experiential session with guided meditations, a place to come and just BE for an hour. Terry is an MBSR (Mindfulness Based Stress Reduction Teacher) here in Kingston who has seen first-hand the extraordinary healing effects a daily meditation practice can have on one's self.

Understanding our Genomes- how are we doing so far?

Harriet Feilotter, Associate Professor, Department of Pathology and Molecular Medicine, Queen's University, and Service

Chief, Clinical Genetics, KGH

Technology has changed so that we can now sequence genomes relatively cheaply and quickly. Understanding more about our genome is generally considered to be a good thing, helping us to diagnose disease, find novel treatments or tailor existing treatments to the appropriate individual. With this kind of advance, however, there is always a flip side. Are we ready to handle this information? Should we put the genie back in the bottle?

Space and Light: The Making of Abstract Art
Sharon Thompson, Artist

Sharon will speak about the primacy of space and light in her abstract painting and how it is both a learning and an inner knowing. She will also talk about the how and why of destruction in 'arriving at finish' and the impact of materials and implements in creating the paintings.

Drop by the

Tapestry by Elizabeth Greene

For the Ban Righ Centre on the occasion of the Queen's 175th birthday

You are part of the very weave, o silken thread. Rainer Maria Rilke, Sonnets to Orpheus, Part Two, 21

i

Recipe for a miracle:
form a circle.
Transformation happens
one cup of tea at a time
one bowl of soup
one word after another ordinary rooms become sacred space where so many have found voices dreams
woven our stories
into this tapestry
which becomes history
hanging invisible
in the air
of these comfortable
modest rooms.

ii

At the beginning the founders strung warp and weft
with vision, precision.
Unstoppable Helen Anderson
Bonnie Judge with her far-seeing eyes
Margaret Hooey and Jean Royce shuttled the thread across the loom with such finesse
the tapestry was begun
steadily, speedily,
before anyone could propose objections or more study.
Conceived, 1973; opened, 1974.
First director Helen Mathers giving radiant welcomes;
warm, wry Janet Troughton always making time
for bottomless pots of tea and endless talks—
welcoming that lasted through Mary, Barb, Suzi, Karen,
to now, to Lisa, Gamila, Carole.

Still something in the air:
Belief, support, connection.
Form a circle.
Offer words, thoughts, feelings.
As voices blend,
transformation happens;
miracles occur.
We add new pictures.
The tapestry grows longer.
Silken threads, we become Part of the weaving.

The first annual Ban Righ Centre Winter Bazaar

was held Friday, December 2, 2016. We all enjoyed cookie-crumble smiles on the faces of youngsters, who shopped for gifts for their loved ones from tables of donated items. The children had a great time choosing and wrapping their special parcels. Equally joyful were the conversations we overheard as mothers arranged play-dates and get-togethers to help keep children busy over the school holidays. The Ban Righ Centre has long been a great place to forge friendships and supportive networks.

Now there is one more way for student parents to reach out and connect with a peer community. Thank you to BRF board members, colleagues, and friends who brought plenty of lightly-used merchandise. To quote one student, "The children loved being able to buy gifts-- it was a real highlight this year. They were really appreciative. All evening they talked about how special it was."

Ankit Kandel and his mother, Anita Subedi

The Drug Smart Pharmacy located in the Queen's Centre has stocked the Ban Righ Centre's cabinets with emergency supplies of various kinds. They donated several baskets of supplies for women. Mothers of infants will find the change table stocked with diapers and wipes. From Band-aids to cleaning supplies, the Ban Righ Centre now has what it needs to help mature women students address any trials and tribulations. Thanks Drug Smart!

On Saturday, October 15, 2016, Women of the Class of Science '81 presented their gift to be used for an endowed emergency bursary.
